BANKERS OF STATE AT WRIGHTSVILLE

Fourteenth Annual Convention N. C. Association at Seashore Hotel.

ATTENDANCE BREAKS RECORD

Address of Welcome, Response, Annual Reports and Reception Features of First Gathering Last Night—River Trip.

The fourteenth annual convention of the North Carolina Bankers' Association convened in the assembly hall of the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, last night, with delegates in attendance from every part of the State. After the conclusion of the programme, a reception was held and the visitors were given an opportunity to meet quite a number of people from Wilmington who had gone to the beach to attend the opening session.

President John O. Ellington, of Fayetteville, called the convention to order, after which an earnest prayer was offered by Rev. W. E. Cox, rector of St. John's Episcopal church. The address of welcome was delivered by Mr. J. Allen Taylor, president of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, and it will be found in another column. In the absence of Gen. Julian S. Carr, who was detained in Durham by urgent business, Col. W. H. S. Burgwyn responded. He said it was an unexpected pleasure to be given the opportunity to respond to the address of welcome delivered by Mr. Taylor, and that he wanted to thank him for his remarks. The speaker referred in glowing terms to the heroes of the lower Cape Fear section both in Colonial times and also in more recent years, and said that it should make the breast of every person who lives in this section swell with pride when he thinks of the glorious past, and to know that it has been continued from the past to the present. In speaking of the patriotism of the people of the Cape Fear, Col. Burgwyn said that not only in war but in business affairs no people were greater patriots, and he told of the building of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad. It devolved on Wilmington whether the road should be built and the business men of the town purchased more stock than the value of the taxable property of the town.

On behalf of the Association he thanked Mr. Taylor for the hearty welcome extended.

President Ellington delivered his annual address, and Mr. W. A. Hunt, secretary and treasurer, submitted his report, both of which will be found in another column.

A telegram of greetings was received from the secretary of the American Bankers' Association; one from the Colorado Bankers' Association stating that arrangements had been made that eastern bankers could join the delegation from that State on the trip to the Pacific coast scheduled for this Summer; and a letter from Gov. Kitchin in which he expressed deep and sincere regret at his inability to be present and spoke in the highest terms of the patriotism displayed by the bankers of North Carolina in connection with the recent bond issue.

After the business session a reception was given to the bankers and their guests. The assembly hall had been tastefully decorated in flags for the occasion. Quite a number of people were present at the reception and the evening passed off in a most enjoyable manner.

This morning at 9:30 a business session will be held, after which the visiting bankers and their families will board special cars for the city where they will board the steamer "Wilmington" for a trip on the Cape Fear river. The party will reach the city in time to take cars t othe beach for supper, and tonight an elaborate souvenir dance will be given at Lumina complimentary to the visiting bankers and their guests.

The attendance upon the opening session is the largest on record for the first meeting of the Association and all hotels and boarding houses at the beach are crowded with guests. Nearly a hundred bankers reached the city and went down to the beach last night on the "Bankers' Special." Although the annexes to both the Tarrymoore and the Seashore have been put into commission, not a single room was to be had at either hotel last night and every boarding house on the beach was crowded.

The session today will be one of the most important of the convention. After roll call and reading of the minutes Mr. W. C. Wilkinson, cashier of the Merchants' and Farmers' National Bank, of Charlotte, will make report as delegate to the American Bankers' Association at Chicago last September. This will be followed by reports of Standing Committees, that on bills of lading being one of the most important. This will be by Col. John F. Bruton, president of the First National Bank of Wilson, and one of the most prominent men in the convention. The other committee reports will be those on Legislation and Group System.

A feature of the day's session will be an address "Knowledge and Wisdom," by Mr. George E. Allen. Educational Director of the American Institute of Banking, New York. Another feature will be an address, "Cordial Relations Between Bankers. Investments That Will Give Good Returns," by Hon. Alf A. Thompson, vice president of the Commercial National Bank, Raleigh. The last feature of the session will be the appointment of committee on resolutions, nominations and auditing.

The Wilmington bankers are taking care of their guests in most hospitable manner. Where hotels are unable to accommodate, visitors are being taken into private homes. A neat button, with tag attached indicating membership in the Association, is passport to anything that the Wilmington bankers have and much that they have provided for this special occasion.

OHIO DEMOCRATS CENTER ON HARMON

Re-Nominated For Governor and Endorsed For The Presidency.

BRYAN PROPOSITION LOST

Refused to Endorse a Candidate for United States Senate—Endorsed the Proposal for Constitutional Convention.

Dayton, O., June 22.—The Democratic party, of Ohio, goes into the State campaign this Fall with Judson Harmon as its candidate for Governor and President. The Democratic State Convention completed its labors, endorsed him in the strongest terms for the Presidency of the United States after it had re-nominated him for Governor by acclamation.

The belief held by many delegates that the Governor will resign shortly after the beginning of his new term in order to become a candidate before the next Democratic National Convention was voiced by former Governor James E. Campbell. The ex-Governor was introducing Atlee Pomerene, of Canton, the nominee for Lieutenant Governor.

"Here is the man," he said, "who will be Lieutenant Governor for six months and the Governor for a year and six months. Both of these nebulous promotions, however, were accomplished against the earnest protests of their beneficiaries."

The following resolution presented by the committee on resolutions was adopted by the convention endorsing Governor Harmon for the Presidency in 1912:

"We invite the attention of the Nation to Judson Harmon and the work he is doing for Ohio. Two years hence it will have been completed, then we can spare him for larger duties. He believes that guilt is personal—is acting on that belief at home, and would act upon it in larger fields. A high sense of duty provides his only motives for official action, and his sense of justice alone compels judgment. Firmness and strength mark him the man to supplant vaccillation and weakness. The Nation needs a real man and the Ohio Democracy presents and endorses for the Presidency in 1912 Judson Harmon."

Governor Harmon made a futile request of the Resolutions Committee that they omit the presidential endorsement resolution, saying that he is making his present fight on State issues and did not want National issues injected into the coming campaign. He was told that it could not be prevented.

Atlee Pomerene, who himself was a candidate against Harmon for the nomination in the State convention two years ago, almost angrily demanded that he be not compelled to make the sacrifice as he termed it, of accepting the nomination for second place. Although his name was not placed in nomination, he received nearly enough votes on the first ballot to nominate. He formally withdrew but on the second ballot before the roll call was completed, the nomination was made unanimous. He asked time to consider the matter and after an hour's conference with his friends announced that he would accept.

The proposition to endorse a candidate for United States Senator which was suggested by William J. Bryan, was defeated, receiving but 254 out of the 1,099 votes in the convention.

A move of great importance in Ohio was made by the convention when it endorsed the proposal for a constitutional convention, a question that will be voted upon by the people this Fall. The action of the convention means a straight Democratic ballot will count in favor of holding the convention to revise the constitution of the State.

The following is the ticket that was nominated to make the campaign with Governor Harmon:

Lieutenant Governor, Atlee Pomerene, Canton; Attorney General, Timothy S. Hogan, Wellston; Secretary of State, Charles H. Graves, Oak Harbor; Treasurer of State, D. S. Creamer, St. Clairsville.

At the conclusion of the nominations the convention adjourned sine die.

Norfolk, Va., June 22.—The Norfolk Industrial Commission will send a committee to Washington in an effort to bring about the construction at the Norfolk navy yard of one of the newly authorized battleships. The last warships built here were the battleship Texas and the cruiser Raleigh, both of which saw active service in the Spanish-American war.

Nominated For Governor Endorsed For President

Now that the Ohio Democracy has unanimously and enthusiastically renominated Governor Judson Harmon for another term and endorsed him for the Presidency, there is interest in whom the Republicans will name to oppose him. The indications are that Congressman J. K. Tener will head the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania now that Secretary Knox refuses to be a candidate, which means that it will be Harmon for President in a walk.

MORE BILLS PASSED SENATE

Reclamation and Campaign Publicity Measures Acted Upon Yesterday—Spirited Contest Among Senators—Bills to Conference.

Washington, June 22.—No sooner had the Senate disposed of the Postal Savings Bank bill today than there ensued a spirited contest among Senators for precedence in the interest of other measures. Among the prominent bills before the Senate there were three candidates for first place on the calendar. These were the Appalachian Forest Reserve bill, the irrigation and reclamation bill and the campaign publicity bill.

Senator Brandegee in charge of the Appalachian bill, was first to obtain recognition, and on a roll call his bill was made the unfinished business. Satisfied with the attainment of this advantageous position, he graciously gave way for the presentation of the other two measures and both of them were passed.

The reclamation bill, authorizing the issuance of $20,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness to aid in the completion of government irrigation projects, already underway, was called up by Senator Lodge, of the committee on finance, from which it was reported.

The only opposition to the measure was voiced by Senator Clay, who said that the government was entering upon a policy which would cost hundreds of millions of dollars. Senators Lodge, Smoot and Bailey were appointed conferees on the bill to adjust differences with the House.

The campaign publicity bill was presented by Senator Burrows, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections. This bill requires the publication 30 days after election of all contributions made to National or Congressional committees in the interest of the election of members of the House of Representatives. As it passed the House it also required publication of contributions in advance of elections.

Senator Bailey's objection to the measure was to the elimination of the House provision requiring the publication of campaign contributions in advance of elections.

The only roll call was on the committee amendment striking out the anti-election publication provision. This was granted on a demand of Mr. Bailey, but the committee's action was sustained by a vote of 37 to 30. The negative vote was cast by Democrats and eight Republicans, the Republicans being, Beveridge, Borah, Brown, Bristow, Clapp, Cummins, Flint and LaFollette. There was no roll call on the bill as a whole, and it was unanimously passed.

Both the publicity and reclamation bills are House measures and both will go to conference before finally accepted.

The Appalachian bill will receive first attention from the Senate tomorrow.

A MISSIONARY STUDY BOARD

Commission Urges That Such be Created in Report to International Missionary Conference at Edinburgh.

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 22.—At today's session of the World's Missionary Conference the general subject of preparation for the work among non-Christian people was discussed. The report of the Commission on the Preparation of Missionaries, was presented by the chairman of the commission, the Rev. Dr. W. Douglas MacKenzie, president of the Hartford Theological Seminary, at Hartford, Conn.

The conference appointed a committee to follow up the work and arrange for another world conference when expedient. The committee is composed of 35 members, ten of whom are Americans.

Having determined the need of a body definitely commissioned to examine into and co-ordinate the possibilities for special missionary preparation, the Commission proposed that steps should be taken by the World Missionary Conference to create a permanent board of missionary study through the joint action of the several societies and boards.

The report in part follows:

"It is not possible to regard every desire to offer for service abroad as constituting in itself a call to work in the foreign field. In each church there are those on whom rests the solemn responsibility of deciding on the fitness of the applicant. In the strictest sense no vocation is complete until the moving of the spirit from within is confirmed and crowned from without, through the operation of the same spirit. No one would claim infallibility for the decisions of candidates' committees, but definite functions are entrusted to them, each within the limits of its own community.

"In order therefore to lessen the danger of eventual disappointment, the commission would urge the necessity for:

HUGHES HAS DATE AT SAGAMORE HILL

New York Executive and Former President Arrange Conference.

RUMORS AS TO THE PURPOSE

Gifford Pinchot Will be Guest of Roosevelt Today—Intimation Regarding Direct Primaries—Hughes Accepts.

New York, June 22.—Theodore Roosevelt has asked Gov. Hughes to visit him at Sagamore Hill in the near future for a conference. The news came out this afternoon in the course of a brief supplementary statement Mr. Roosevelt chose to add to his denial this morning of a printed report that he is to come out in opposition to the Governor's policy of direct primaries.

Mr. Roosevelt did not say he had received the Governor's acceptance to come in conference. But, taken as part of a conversation which had to do with direct primaries the mere announcement aroused the keenest speculation.

Gov. Hughes passes out of the present situation this Fall when he assumes a seat on the bench of the United States Supreme Court, but in his continued devotion to his policies he recently called the Legislature in special session to consider this very subject of direct primaries.

Gifford Pinchot will be a guest at Sagamore Hill tomorrow night. He made the announcement himself but was dumb to all questions. Tonight Col. Roosevelt was the guest of Robert Collier at a private dinner at Sherry's.

William T. Hornaday, director of the Bronz Zoo whom Mr. Roosevelt has said is "no nature fakir, but a natural born side show," eulogized Col. Roosevelt this afternoon in an address at a luncheon of the Camp Fire Club, given on the roof garden of the Waldorf-Astoria in Col. Roosevelt's honor.

President Seton presented the distinguished guest with the gold medal of the Camp Fire Club, presented for "eminent service" inscribed "To Theodore Roosevelt, June 22nd, 1910. For his work in the protection of wild life and forests and for his contributions to zoology."

Mr. Hornaday characterized the ex-President as foremost among the big game hunters of the world. "The only poor presidents this nation has had have been men who never heard the red gods calling," said the speaker.

In response to the presentation speech, Col. Roosevelt expressed his thanks for the honor and then spoke extemporaneously with game protection as his theme. Mr. Roosevelt, however, had stipulated, in accepting the club's invitation that whatever he said "should not receive publicity," and his remarks were not reported.

Albany, N. Y., June 22.—Governor Hughes has accepted the invitation of Theodore Roosevelt to visit him at Sagamore Hill in the near future.

When asked tonight concerning the former President's invitation, the Governor said it had given him great pleasure to accept. He added that no date for the visit had been fixed.

LABOR UNIONS SITUATION.

Serious Difficulty Confronts Congress—Conflict.

Washington, June 22.—Congress is confronted with a serious difficulty which has brought the two Houses into direct disagreement and delayed adjournment, in the question of whether labor unions shall be exempted from prosecution of the Sherman anti-trust law. The conferees of the two Houses met today and adjourned with both sides standing firm as ever.

The House conferees, Representatives Tawney, of Minnesota; Smith, of Iowa, and Fitzgerald, of New York, voted solidly for the House provision to exempt lobar unions, contained in an item in the sundry civil appropriation bill. The Senate conferees, Senators Hale, Perkins and Clay, stood firm for the Senate position against exempting organized labor.

The House conferees were instructed yesterday by a decisive vote of that body to insist upon the provision as placed in the bill by the House and they would be in contempt of the House if they did otherwise, unless the House votes to recede from its position.

Tar Heel's Visit to Oyster Bay Renews Rumors.

Columbia, S. C., June 22.—Friends here of James Thompson Williams, Jr. in connection with whose arrival at Oyster Bay yesterday from New Mexico, newspapers intimated he was engaged to Miss Ethel Roosevelt, say they have heard this story before and believe there is much in it.

Williams will probably be a Senator from New Mexico. He is a North Carolinian, but his father has long lived in Greenville, of which town he was mayor several terms. Mr. Williams is a newspaper man of about 30 years of age.

THE POSTAL BANKS ARE NOW ASSURED

Passage of Measure by the Senate Final Legislative Step.

PRESIDENT WINS VICTORY

Senator Simmons Denounced Bill as "An Abject and Humiliating Surrender of the Banks."—No Amendments.

Washington, June 22.—After voting down several amendments, the Senate today decided, 44 to 25, to concur in the House amendments to the Postal Savings Bank bill, and thus took the last legislative step necessary to the establishment of a Postal Savings Bank system of the United States. The measure was included in the administration schedule and its passage marks another triumph for President Taft.

In accordance with the programme agreed upon yesterday, the voting began at 5 o'clock, and the bill was passed a quarter of an hour afterward.

Most of the "insurgent" Republicans joined with the regulars in supporting the measure in the final action on it, but Senators Bristow, Cummins and LaFollette refused to yield and cast their ballots in the negative with the Democrats. Senator Chamberlain cast the only Democratic vote for the bill.

Previous to the voting there was much discussion of the general merits of the bill.

Mr. Simmons, of North Carolina, denounced the bill as "an abject and humiliating surrender to the banks" and predicted that before the end of the next campaign the bill would be the most unpopular law ever passed by the Republican party. "Not excepting the spurned, rejected and trampled upon Payne-Aldrich Tariff law."

Declaring that the House had rejected every feature for which the Senate had made especial endeavor, Mr. Hughes, of Colorado, read articles from newspapers declaring that the President had threatened to veto the river and harbor and public buildings bills if the House Postal Savings Bank bill should fail of acceptance by the Senate. He demanded to know whether the contents of the "pork barrel" should be more potent in influencing Senators than the requirements of the constitution. Surely a postal savings bank bill was not to be passed because of the exercise of such influence, he said. With Mr. Bristow, he asserted that the bill would prove a political curse to the party enacting it into law.

Mr. Carter defended the bill. Mr. Carter expressed confidence that the measure would "prove an unmixed blessing to struggling men, women and children."

The Postal Bank bill, as it goes to the President, provides for the designation of postoffices as postal savings depository offices. The opening of such depositories is left to the discretion of a board of three trustees, consisting of the Postmaster General, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Attorney General. This board is given complete control of the depositories and of their funds. As it will require considerable time for the board to prepare its regulations, it is impossible at this time to predict when the postal banking system will be in operation.

In these depositories any person over ten years of age may make deposit of funds amounting to $1 or multiples of that amount. Pass books will be issued to depositors and interest allowed at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum. No person is to be permitted to have exceeding $500 to his credit at any time. The withdrawal of funds is to be permitted at any time.

The Postal Savings funds, thus accumulated, are to be placed in State and National banks in the communities in which the deposits are made and the banks are to be required to pay 2 1-4 per cent. interest. Five per cent. of the total deposits is to be held by the treasurer of the United States as a reserve to guarantee the payment of depositors. Banks are to be required to deposit security in the shape of public bonds to assure the safety of deposits. There is a provision authorizing the withdrawal of 30 per cent. of the deposits for investment in government bonds, and depositors are permitted to transmute their deposits into bonds when they so desire.

Postmasters in fourth class offices are to be given additional compensation for their services in connection with the depositories and postal savings accounts in the banks are to be kept separate from all other accounts. One hundred thousand dollars is appropriated to carry the proposed law into effect and to establish the first of the depositories.

It is expressly declared in the bill itself that "the faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of the deposits made in postal savings depository offices, with accrued interest thereon as herein provided."

Lexington, Va., June 22.—Final exercises of the commencement at the Virginia Military Institute were held this morning in the Stonewall Jackson Memorial hall and were presided over by the superintendent, General Edward W. Nichol. Governor Mann addressed the graduating class.

DAY OF ACTIVITY FOR PHYSICIANS

Sessions of North Carolina Medical Society at Wrightsville Beach.

MANY INTERESTING FEATURES

Delightful Trip Down Cape Fear River. Joint Meeting With Board of Health—Important Papers Read—Programme.

With several interesting and important business sessions and a trip down the historic Cape Fear river on the handsome steamer Wilmington, the visitors at Wrightsville Beach for the 57th annual convention of the North Carolina Medical Society spent a busy day yesterday. The river trip in the afternoon on the handsome steamer Wilmington, with Captain John W. Harper, the genial host, was one of the features of the gathering and the outing was heartily enjoyed by the several hundred who participated.

The delegates and those not delegates dismissed from their minds everything that savored in the least of business and all enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent, returning to the beach late in the afternoon much refreshed and ready for the several meetings to take place in the evening.

The sessions yesterday were featured in many respects. A number of papers of more than ordinary interest were read before the society in the morning, while at the same time a meeting of the Section of Anatomy and Surgery was in progress in another room just preceding a session of the House of Delegates. Last night the Society heard the annual oration and the annual essay. At noon a conjoint session of the society was held with the State Board of Health and while the time was devoted exclusively to reports from officers of the State Board it was one of the most interesting, important and far-reaching meetings held in connection with the annual gathering of the medical men. The several features of the conjoint session, told of elsewhere in today's paper will be read with much interest.

Hookworm Conference.

Of widespread interest not only to the medical men, but to the general public, is the conference on hookworm disease which will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning. There is added interest in this conference on account of the statement of Dr. Ferrell at the conjoint meeting yesterday that probably one-fourth of the rural population of North Carolina is affected with the disease. The following is the programme for the conference: "Methods Followed in Florida in Crusade Against Hookworm Disease," Dr. H. Byrd, assistant health officer of Florida; "Discussion of Value and Essentials of a Sanitary Privy," Dr. C. W. Stiles, scientific secretary of Rockefeller Commission; "Practical Means of Hookworm Eradication," Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary State Board of Health; "Distribution of Hookworm Disease in North Carolina," Dr. John A. Ferrell, assistant secretary for hookworm disease. There will be a ten minute discussion of each of the papers.

There are yet a large number of papers on the programme to be read and if all are read the society will be in session through tonight, but it is hardly probable that all will be read.

Morning Session.

The general session of the society was called to order at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by Dr. John Q. Myers, of Charlotte, second vice president, in the absence of President Wood, who was engaged in the meeting of the House of Delegates. Dr. Wood came over later, however, and presided over the remainder of the session. On motion it was decided to hear papers from non-members who were present as some expect to leave before the time for their papers as arranged on the programme. The first was by Dr. Gordon Wilson, of Baltimore, Md., who is connected with the hospital of the University of Maryland, his subject being "The Diagnosis of Tuberculosis in Doubtful Cases." Dr. Wilson presented the history of some cases of tuberculosis patients where the lung symptoms were absent, and also gave two cases where he had reason to believe patients had tuberculosis, but which proved to be something else upon a thorough routine examination, which Dr. Wilson insisted should be had in every case. In conclusion he said that tuberculosis was a simulator of other diseases and that no disease requires such careful and thorough study.

This was followed by a paper by Dr. Joseph A. White, of Richmond, Va., on "Has the Tonsils Any Functions? Is it a Menace to the Organism as a Focus of Infections Is the Present Holocaust of Tonsils Necessary? Which is the Best Method of Removal When Operation is Clearly Indicated?" It was an interesting and enlightening paper and was discussed by several members of the society.

The papers of Dr. J. Bruton Newlin, of Richmond, Va., and Dr. Robert C. Bryan, of Richmond, Va., were called for but neither was in the hall at the time, and the society then took up the Section of Medical Jurisprudence and State Medicine, Dr. Chas. O'H. Laughinghouse, of Greenville, chairman. He read a paper on "One of the State's Immediate Needs Shown by Legislature History." He said that the State owed a debt of gratitude to the men

Goldsboro, N. C., June 22.—By taking today's game Wilmington made it two out of three. Brooks pitched a no-hit game and not a single Giant touched second base. Clancy starred at short stop while Dubbs featured with the bat being the only one that secured two safeties.

Wilmington put her first run over in the very first inning after two men were down. Kluttz was out short to first after which Dubbs drew a constitutional and went to second on Tydeman's out second to first. Then Mills bingled over second and Dubbsy registered. Doak walked and while Carroll was up, Mills and Doak pulled off a double steal, Carroll going out from the infield. For Goldsboro Sharp was out third to first, Wolf walked, the only favor of the game at the hands of Brooks, but he was immediately out attempting second. Daily was safe on error of Dubbs but Evans flew out to second.

Burke started the second with a bingle through short and stole second while Gilmore was sacrificing but Brooks and Kluttz each ethered. Giant Crockett was out at first unassisted, Clancy flied to centre, Stoehr fanned.

Tydeman was out short to first, Mills at first unassisted, Doak lined to left for two bases but Carroll fouled to first. For Goldsboro Fulton flied to centre, Hanks to second and Sharp second to first.

In the seventh after Burke was out catcher to first, Gilmore was hit and walked, Brooks drew four wide ones, and after Kluttz flied to second Dubbs hit safely over second and Gilmore scored. Ty was out third to first. For Goldsboro Wolf flied to centre, Daily to right and Evans was out pitcher to first.

In the eighth Mills was safe on muff of left field, Doak sacrificed, Carroll out third to first, Mills advancing to third, but Burke saved another score by fanning. Crockett fouled to pitcher, Clancy out pitcher to first, Stoehr short to first.

After Gilmore and Brooks had flied to short and right, Kluttz hit a screamer to centre for an extra cushion but Dubbs flied to left. Fulton and Hanks fanned and Sharp was out short to first for Goldsboro.

"Chuckles"

Another!

Was it a game? Well, I reckon yes!

Thanks to Brooks, and a few others.

Good Boy; Gilmore! They didn't pilfer on you that try.

Wilson has signed a center fielder named Sheridan.

Fayetteville put three coats of kalsomine on the Railroaders.

Brooks has qualified as the gutter-percha gay-boy of this league.

Mills was responsible for the first tally, and Dubbs the second run.

With malice aforethought said Brooks put it all over the Giants.

It's about time now for Mister No-Hit Lane to trump or follow suit.

Doak and Kluttz got two baggers; Mills, Burke and Dubbs were satisfied with singles.

Wilmington's bingles were as plentiful as abdominal toothaches during green apple time.

Dumpy Dubbs pulled off his usual playful little error, but it didn't count against us that time.

Pitcher Kull has been released by Fayetteville, and signed by Columbia, in the South Atlantic.

Crowds should take in the game this afternoon to see the battle royal between the Sailors and Kilties.

Tidy Ty took a day off and absolutely refused to rip off a hit. He's laying up for this afternoon's game.

Carroll was again on third, playing an errorless game, but has failed to land a hit during the past two games.

Not being content with simply shutting out Goldsboro, Brooks rubbed it in by denying them a single measly hit.

Mr. Brooks has pitched rings around a few of the clubs, and here's hoping Fayetteville won't be an exception to his victims.

With the large number of visitors to the beach, there should be a record-breaking attendance at the park for the present series.

If somebody doesn't soon stop Fayetteville's gait, there's got to be some tall marathoning done to come anywhere near catching her.

And the Argus said Goldsboro was Wilmington's Jonah. All right, but this time the Sailors instead of the whale, did the swallowing act.

The Sailors were guilty of some rapid path performing; Doak, Dubbs and Burke purloining the pivotal point, and Mills the tertiary station.

McCormick, wind-padding for the Birdies, appears to be developing into one of the best backstops around the circuit. The Raleigh dopists daily tout him.

The News and Observer tags a bouquet touching upon Howard's being the hitting pitcher of the league. And we've two or three more, besides the Rube, who are no slouches at wielding the willow.

Richaddson signed by Raleigh as a moundman, from all accounts is turning out some first sacker. We have recollections of the manner in which his stewardship of the primary pillow was cleverly pulled off on Raleigh's visit here, and how he was called upon to step from that station into the pitcher's box to twirl the remainder of a game in enviable style.

The Wilson Times Dopester, I believe, thinks the same way about the Mills-Guerrant trade as we do down this way. Listen: "The Wilson club is not in the best condition now, but will be in fine form at an early date. Losing Guerrant at this time weakened the club, over which fact the Wilmington Star remembering the Guerrant-Mills trade gives us the horse laugh."

The other day the Goldsboro dope slinger rambled on to say we wanted to watch his column on Tuesday. Without gainsaying his right to have slopped over due to the Giants trimming the fast flying Sailors, for he certainly had reason to say a few words, and simply seeking information, we would like to inquire where the promised junk was. We looked and looked, but it was non est. Very likely his little intimation turning into a correct prognostication was such a shock he was unable to transfer his thoughts and feelings to paper.

A letter received yesterday from Manager Smith at Goldsboro corrects a false impression that went out as to the game at Goldsboro on the 20th. Gilmore did not muff the ball at the plate that cost the game but Burke threw wild from second, the ball bounding four feet or more to the right of the catcher. The official scorer was not able to be present at the series in Goldsboro, hence the error, a correction of the score having been forwarded to League headquarters at Raleigh. Gilmore did not have a passed ball or an error.

The biggest crowd of the season should greet the Sailors and the Highlanders this afternoon. The locals all but took three games from Goldsboro, and are going good. When one stops to realize the fact that the Wilmington management had to build the present team up from no reservations to draw upon, while practically every other club in the league had a substantial reserve list to draw from, we can't help but acknowledge that a great deal of credit is due those behind the team for accomplishing the results that have followed their work. Show your appreciation, therefore, by patronizing the games this week.

Waymack Came Within an Ace of No-Hit Performance—Philadelphia Athletic Scout on the Grounds—Notes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 22.—The Highlanders took their sixth straight victory today by winning 3 to 0. Waymack came within an ace of shutting out the visitors without a hit, their lone single being a weak tap over an infielder's head when a bunt was expected. The locals used up two Rocky Mount pitchers. Al. Maul, scout for the Philadelphia Athletics, watched today's game.

LAURINBURG WINS

Defeated Rockingham Three to Two in Game Yesterday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Laurinburg, N. C., June 23.—Victory came Laurinburg's way again today in the hardest fought game of the season on the local diamond. Demoralized by the easy victory of last week the defeats of yesterday and day before put the locals to work today. With Brown in the box with the goods on him, Laurinburg had to win. Edwards, in right for the locals, made wonderful plays. Roberts, who never fails with the stick, and McMillan, each landed three-baggers, and Williams was relaced by Efird. Score:

Thursday, June 23rd, 1910.

It is estimated that there are 20,000,000 women in the United States. We are pretty well satisfied that "Uncle Joe" has had things pretty much his own way but he must now admit that he is largely in the minority.

It is said that President Taft is working on the sly to prevent the return of LaFollette to the United States Senate from Wisconsin. LaFollette brought it all on himself by making himself disagreeable when Senator Aldrich handed out his beck and call.

When Tex Rickard saw that Governor Gillette and the California militia were up against him, he retired from the fight, saying "I've had enough." Wherefore, when a man sees that it is useless to butt his head against a brick wall he should exalt wisdom by declining to buck.

The North Carolina Bankers' Association, now in session at Wrightsville Beach, is meeting at a time when people no longer believe that the United States could convert pine chips into money by merely stamping them as such. The contracted financial idea has expanded.

A New York financial paper says good crops will restore prosperity. That is an insult cast in the face of Republican campaigners who will soon try to make the people believe that it is the tariff which does it. The fact is we sometimes have prosperity in spite of the tariff, and we really might have more of it if we had less of a tariff law that wrings tribute out of the many to guarantee prosperity for the few.

The Star adds its rejoicings to that of the entire North Carolina newspaper fraternity because of the gratifying report which comes from Pittsboro, announcing that the condition of Major H. A. London is much improved. He has been ill with erysipelas since he attended the State Press Association in this city a couple of weeks ago. Major London is editor of the Pittsboro Record and is one of the State's oldest, ablest and most honored editors.

Two North Carolina doctors are aspirants for the Democratic nomination for seats in Congress—Dr. John M. Faison, in the Third District, and Dr. George A. Mebane, in the Fifth District. If either goes to Congress, the National Legislature will get a pretty good impression of North Carolina doctors. The doctor candidates are able and representative North Carolinians but their opponents for the nomination are trying to persuade their patients to keep them at home.

There is a law in Nevada which "prohibits" prize fighting in that State but the Governor of Nevada, in spite of that fact, invites the promoters of the Jeffries-Johnson slugging match to pull it off in his State, giving his guarantee that they will not be molested. What can be thought of a Governor who will violate his oath to uphold the constitution and laws of his State? If the authorities whose duty it is to enforce the laws can treat them with contempt they need not be surprised if the people will also treat with contempt such laws as do not suit them. In view of the fact that Ex-President Roosevelt has just returned from Elba and created a hullabaloo among people who do not know what resentment is, we hope he will not think part of this is aimed at him simply because he consented for the Steel Trust to violate the Sherman act by gobbling up its principal competitor. We remember a whole lot of things that we can't forget.

FATAL ARGUMENT.

In the House of Representatives recently Representative Ransdell, of Louisiana, made a booster talk for the South and in behalf of the "back to the farm" movement. The Star recently discussed the boom feature of Mr. Ransdell's speech but we held up on his ideas concerning the stampede back to the farm. We have some queer ideas about the delights of agriculture and we are sure that the farmers will not greatly appreciate his reasons why all of us should go back to the farm.

The Louisiana statesman made a fine speech but a portion of it has to be looked into. "In my judgment," said Mr. Ransdell, in discussing the drift of people from the farms to the cities, "this is one of the fruitful causes of the high price of living. All food products—and the foods we eat is our heaviest item of expense—come from the ground or the sea, and when the number of consumers who dwell in the cities disproportionately exceed the producers in the country, it naturally results in high prices."

Mr. Ransdell went on to say that if the relative growth of population in the cities and country remains the same through the next decade and production of food be not materially increased in some very unlooked for way, he could see no reason why the price of edibles would decrease but rather would increase. We think people who are trying to induce us to go back to the farm slip up in their argument when they speak from the standpoint of consumers and want us to go to farming in order to get the price of edibles cut down. That is not the way to entice us back to the farm. We must be convinced that on account of high prices for what we can produce on the farm we would find the farm a regular gold mine.

We do not hesitate to say that if these high prices keep up, and they can entertain us with the idea that we can become a plutocrat as an agriculturalist, we would hike out for the "rural deestrict." However, when the "back to the farm" spellbinders disclose the fact that they are merely consumers figuring on getting edibles cheaper, they drop their candy, For the time being we are a pernicious and omnivorous consumer but if prices keep up like they are we could be induced to be a producer. Speaking from the standpoint of one who would like to own a farm while there is a barrel of money in it, we do not appreciate Mr. Ransdell's position that we should go back to the farm in order to so increase production that it will reduce the price of what we produce.

People left the farms because the prices of their products got so low that they could not make both ends meet. They went to the cities because they could make more than they could by acting as the directing follower of a mule ,and the only way to get them back is to prove to them that the time has come when they can make more money as a hayseeder than they can as a town galoot. The Republican party levies a tariff in order to guarantee high prices to manufacturers and special interests, but so far as we are concerned we are glad to see the farmer getting what is coming to him without any Republican favoritism. We have done all we could do to help the farmer get big prices for his cotton, and while he is making it a little uncomfortable for us on the eating line we are rather tickled at the idea that the farmer is enjoying the prosperity that was not guaranteed to him in any Republican platform.

When the Colonel goes to Washington will he be "delighted" with the opportunity to review the whitewash brigade?

Mayor Gaynor, of New York, is to meet 2,000 girls at a picnic next Saturday at Pelham Bay Park. No doubt Mrs. Gaynor will see that picnic out.

The name which the Sioux Indian Chief had for President Roosevelt was "Heap Big Talk." A wag of the old Indian's head indicated that he meant "Hot Air Artist."

Lyman Abbott claims that he is "A Voice." Chancellor Day appears to be the "Twin Voice," and Colonel Roosevelt is no longer the "Whole Thing" but "The Voiceless."

When Col. Roosevelt returned from Europe a few days ago he said he was awfully glad to get back to "My Country." Probably he hadn't heard that the Guggenheim syndicate is prepared to dispute his title.

Up around Greensboro candidates go around submitting the plea that they are married. No candidate whatsoever is entitled to sympathy unless he can prove that he was roped into matrimony against his will.

The Georgia people are in hard luck. Right on top of the fact that Tom Watson has landed in the Democratic party again, here comes the Georgia Legislature to make Atlanta tired of being the capital of the State.

Secretary Ballinger has every reason to keep so busy he can't spare the time to make a visit to Oyster Bay. There is a bare possibility that he might be Burton Harrisoned. We would like to see him take the chance.

TAKE THE BULL BY THE HORNS.

A tremendous sentiment has been aroused in this country against corruption in politics and the eve of another election serves to agitate the question anew. The recent Republican primary election in Pennsylvania, in which Joseph C. Sibley spent about $41,000 to secure his nomination over a Republican opponent, is creating widespread comment. Everybody who has enough brains to make a frying noise in a skillet knows that the money spent by Sibley was a corruption fund and was used to debauch the ballot in his district. Even though that money were spent with ostensible fairness in "hiring" workers, it is plain that is a way for buying support and in effect is bribery. The ward politicians and the heelers get the money and they do the buying of votes and political dirty work, while such men as Sibley pretend to file a bill of honest expenses. The people ought to know that no man can honestly spend nearly three times as much money as his salary will amount to for two years in Congress.

No man with common sense will spend $26,000 more than he will get in salary for two years, for the sole reason of obtaining the so-called honor there is in it, and as a matter of fact, it does not come out of his pocket. The money is furnished by the political machine or the political clique to which he belongs, and it comes out of parties who have special interests to serve by securing this or that man's election. The expenditure of money in politics has gotten to be so commonplace that it is looked upon by the people as a matter of course. Instead of having their righteous indignation aroused they tolerate it, little dreaming that it is sapping the very foundation of their political system. If it were possible that the boodle campaigns did not corrupt politics, it certainly is bringing about a condition that will permit only the man with a barrel to aspire to office or hope to be elected. The man with no means but more brains than the boodlers, need not have any aspirations nor certainly can he expect to be elected against an avalanche of dollars.

We are not so free from money campaigns in North Carolina as we ought to be, but we are well off compared with many States of this Union. It is an open secret that many seats in the United States Senate have been purchased outright, and the recent charges of bribery against Senator Lorimer in Illinois serve to illustrate one more case. Former Senator Mason, of Illinois, in speaking of the Lorimer case, declared that 40 per cent. of the seats in the Senate were bought and paid for. The honorable gentleman ought to know, for he has been in the Senate himself and probably made a study of the facts in that connection.

It is also a notorious fact that the Presidential elections in the United States are corrupted by huge campaign funds, raised on the Republican side from interests that the party going into power is under obligation in their platform to protect with a guarantee of profits in their business. During the Roosevelt campaign Judge Parker made the charge that a huge corruption fund was being subscribed from questionable sources and the Strenuous One denounced it as a lie. The worst part of it is, that after investigations into the insurance companies' scandal in New York the truth was proveu and yet there is no record anywhere that the square deal (!) Roosevelt ever apologized to the honest and distinguished Presidential nominee of the greatest party in America. It is useless, however, to prolong references to this outrageous condition of affairs, for the people of all parties are aware of the facts and remember the numerous instances in which the money power has overridden the so-called power of the people.

The remedy lies in the hands of an outraged people. They tolerate it, because if they didn't it could not exist. If they take the bull by the horns instead of groping in partisan blindness they can put a stop to it. The Star has contended all along that Cannonism existed in the House of Representatives only because the majority was responsible for it and wanted it. Time and again we declared that when the House of Representatives was convinced that Cannonism must go, it would make short shift of it. The remedy was in the hands of the House and the reader who keeps up with events must have read a few days ago how easy it was for the House to curtail the power of the heretofore autocratic Speaker. Republicans and Democrats, with the exception of one Republican, put a quietus on the whole business a few days ago. The people in North Carolina and in the United States can put an end to all the ills they complain of whenever they get ready to do it. They can take the bull by the horns like the House when it knew its rights and boldly but quietly exercise it. We don't care whether the people do it so quietly or not, but we do want to see a great demonstration of the sovereignty of the people instead of the boodlers'.

Many years ago the people began to seek remedies for the corruption of politics and one of the results was the passage of acts by several of the Legislatures providing for publicity for expenditures. The acts are abortive, however, because a mere statement that so much money was spent amounts to nothing except to astonish the people by the huge amount of the expenditures. They are still kept in ignorance of what the money was spent for and therefore, "publicity after a campaign" is a farce and a humbug. Publicity before an election is what the people want so they can make up their verdict, but while the Democrats hold to that idea the Republicans invariably take the position that makes publicity for campaign expenditures a most absurd and ridiculous proposition.

A campaign publicity bill is now pending in the New York Legislature, and the New York World and other newspapers with integrity demand publicity previous to election, or on the eve of election, but as usual the Republicans oppose it. The people ought to know the reason why they oppose the right kind of publicity. They know that it will come too late to do the Republican party any harm and from one election to the other the fool people appear to consider it of very little importance. It will be too late some of these days for the people to become aroused to the danger which threatens them and their government.

A new novel appears under the title of "The Right Stuff.' It is probably "Trash" under another name, and if so it will have a great sale.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"Why don't you talk more politics?" a would-be candidate wants to know. Hang politics, man! We want good roads. And the man who wants to go to the Legislature had better let it be known where he stands on this question.—Greenville Reflector.

Speaking about Morehead bucking Duncan, he is likely to have some pretty good men behind him—the Hon. Thos. Settle, for instance, who can hold his own with any of them in any kind of a light. As a parliamentarian he has no equal.—Greensboro Record.

Never has there been a finer wheat crop in this part of God's moral vineyard, but the farmers had to hustle in order to save it because of the heavy rains a week ago. With a few more days of wind and sunshine, however, it will be harvested and housed.—Greensboro Record.

North Carolina affairs are seldom monotonous, our peole properly deeming a judicious variety the very spice of life. To the eager contests on in many congressional districts for the Democratic nomination, the second furnishes a contrast. Reports indicate that Representative Claude Kitchin will have no opposition in the convention which meets at Rocky Mount on July 6th.—Charlotte Observer.

It is announced that the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad will shortly establish an agricultural and immigration department with headquarters at Wilmington for the purpose of looking after affairs falling under such classification in the two Carolinas and Virginia. The establishment of such a department is first-rate evidence of the progressiveness and intelligence of a railroad company, for it spells increased prosperity for the section through which the railroad passes.—Charlotte Observer.

We knew, when it was announced that Col. Roosevelt was coming home and was to be given a big reception, that some newspapers could not resist the temptation to "slop over" in discussing the man and the occasion. Mr. Roosevelt is a man of ability and nerve but we are far from being convinced that he is "the greatest President this nation has had," as one or two newspapers have claimed, or that he "is the greatest man in the world today," as some other hero worshippers claim.—Winston-Salem Journal.

Nevada is what is called a sovereign State. It embraces a great deal of territory and a few people. Most of its valuables are owned by Californians. Its United States Senatorships have been held a good deal of the time by men who might properly be called residents of San Francisco. In these circumstances when California shuns a prize-fight with the knowledge that it will be held in Nevada it does not exactly close the doors of hope upon its inhabitants. Nearly all of the money spent at Reno will be found later on in San Francisco's pockets.—New York World.

Now that the Morning Star, Richmond Virginian, Charlotte Observer, et al., have decided that "auto" and "automobile" should be discarded in favor of "car," "machine" and like terms, we "enquire to know" what term we are to use in referring to the individual formerly known as "autoist" and "automobilist." You could hardly call him a "machinist" and to say that he took a "car ride" immediately suggests the trolley. The term "motorist" might just as well be employed in speaking of the driver of a wood-sawing outfit or the navigator of a motor boat ,and we are at a loss to know just what to call him.—Durham Sun.

Saturday is the day that the Democrats will meet in every county in the State to express their choice for State, Judicial and district candidates. Only a few counties will at that time name the county candidates. In some counties a regular primary election will be held. In others there will be township conventions, and in others mass meetings. And then in every county the County Convention will be held on July 2nd, to choose delegates to Judicial, Congressional and State conventions. This year all Solicitors and Congressmen are to be elected; Superior Court judges in the Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth, Eighth, Tenth, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fourteenth ,and Sixteenth Judicial districts; two Corporation Commissioners; two Associate Justices of the Supreme Court; and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. These are important positions and every Democrat should take part so as to aid in the selection of the candidates who will best serve the State.—Raleigh News and Observer, June 22.

Representative Ransdell, of Louisiana, made a talk in the House a few days ago that is attracting much attention in the North. He spoke of the industrial progress and possibilities of the South, his remarks being based on the exodus of many of our best citizens into the British possessions north of the United States, and the rapid congestion of our cities caused by the growing uppopularity of life on the farm, and by the large influx of foreign immigrants, many of whom settle in cities. As a remedy for all those problems, he suggested to the House that the persons concerned should be induced to come to the south. * * * Doubtless it will surprise some of us to hear from the Louisiana Congressman that corn, and not cotton, is now king in the South, and yet that seems to be a fact. In looking over a Southern farm journal a day or two ago, The Journal read that in the adjoining State of North Carolina corn growing contests are in progress in seventy-four counties of the State. In Virginia, something like thirty counties are represented in the list of contestants for prizes for corn culture.—Richmond Journal.

All the Business Houses of Fremont Closed During the Funeral.

(Special to News and Observer.)

Fremont, N. C., June 21.—Mr. W. B. Floars, who was so terribly scalded and otherwise hurt in yesterday's explosion, died in about two hours after the explosion. Mr. Floars was buried this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the city cemetery. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. N. H. Shepherd of the Baptist church. THE MASONIC INSTALLATION

Joint Exercises and Banquet on Evening of June 28th.—Committee of Arrangements About Completed Its Work.

The three Wilmington lodges of Masons have decided upon June 28th and not June 30th, as previously announced, for the joint installation of the officers of the three lodges recently elected and a joint committee of arrangements is busily engaged in making ready for the pleasant affair.

The exercises will take place in the Masonic Temple in the evening at the usual hour for the assembling of the lodges and the officers will be installed by Deputy Grand Master W. B. McKoy, of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina. Mr. W. A. Williams will serve as Grand Marshall and the Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., as Grand Chaplain. In addition to the ceremonies of installation, there will be an elaborate banquet in the banquet room of the temple and Mr. C. L. Meister will preside as toastmaster. There will be a number of responses and the programme will be interspersed by musical selections by the Masonic Quartette. An altogether pleasant affair is looked forward to by the Masonic fraternity of the city and visiting Masons upon that occasion. The committee of arrangements is composed of Messrs. John S. McEachern, St. John's Lodge No. 1; Walter E. Yopp, Wilmington Lodge, and R. C. DeRosset, Orient Lodge. The full programme for the installation and banquet will be announced later.

SAD DEATH OF INFANT.

Being Taken to Beach Home, Died at Home of Friend Here.

A particularly sad and distressing death is that of the one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Antine Huggins, of Mullins, S. C., which occurred at the home of Mr. W. B. Cooper, in this city, last night at 10 o'clock, as the mother of the little one and a sister were on their way to the beach to place the child in the Marion Seaside Home with the hope that the beach climate would be beneficial to his health.

The mother and sister of the infant brought the little one to the city on the early afternoon train yesterday from Mullins, but its condition grew so much worse en route that they were obliged to stop at the home of Mr. Cooper before going further. The child was a nephew of Miss Lillie Martin, trained nurse of this city, and she with the parents have the tenderest sympathy of all in their grief. The remains of the child will be taken on the early morning train today to Mullins for interment.

BOWLING AT BRIGADE.

Interesting Contest Last Night Between Picked Teams.

There was an interesting bowling tournament last night at the Boys' Brigade armory between teams captained by Cicero Gore and C. C. Davis. The score was: Gore's team 1,929; Davis' team, 1,981. The highest score for an individual player was made by Albert Elmer. The next tournament will be on Thursday night of next week. Bowling is a very popular and healthful sport at the Boys' Brigade just now and a number of the men are becoming quite proficent bowlers.

Funeral of Mrs. Murray.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary K. Murray, whose sad death occurred at the home of her daughter in this city Tuesday morning, was conducted from the residence, No. 1201 North Fourth street, at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Rev. C. F. Whitlock officiating, and the remains were taken immediately thereafter to Wallace, N. C., her old home, for interment, accompanied by members of the family and friends. The pall-bearers were Messrs. W. J. Beach, J. R. Kerr, Wm. Walker and T. E. Coker.

Again That Sewer Pipe.

The Star is asked by tenants in that section to again call the attention of the proper authorities to the broken sewer pipe at foot of Chesnut street, a nuisance and a menace to public health that has existed for just 45 days by the calendar. There should still be some law to reach such cases and if there is not, the Board of Aldermen should lose no time in assembling, eschewing the mighty "nearbeer" question for at least one session, and giving attention to this positive danger to the health of the community.

COLORED MEDICOS ADJOURN

Final Session of North Carolina Medical, Pharmaceutical and Dental Association Completes Its Sessions—Banquet.

(Reported for the Star.)

The final session of the North Carolina Medical, Pharmceutical and Dental Association, colored, met yesterday at 9:30 A. M. in the True Reformer's Hall, Dr. J. W. Walker, of Asheville, presiding. Invocation was by Rev. J. L. Hall. Dr. William Niestlie a pharmacist, was introduced to the Association and made a short address.

Papers on the following subjects were read during the day: "Organization and Its Relation to Medical Progress," by Dr. F. S. Hargraves, Wilson; "The General Therapeutics of the Inflammatory Affections of the Throat," by Dr. J. S. Massey, Monroe; "Typhoid Fever," by Dr. P. W. Burnett, Rocky Mount; "Abdominal Surgery," by Dr. Chas. H. Sheppard, of Durham; "Inflammatory Diarrhoea of Children," by Dr. D. W. Chesnutt, of Wilmington.

Dr. J. T. Williams, of Charlotte, was given an ovation by his confreres when he was introduced to the association to deliver an address. He has served this country in Lierre Leone, Africa, and is a member of the first graduating class of the Medical Department of Shaw University. He spoke of certain diseases prevalent because of climatic conditions and said North Carolina is an excellent field for certain scientific investigations.

Prof. C. R. Fraizer, of Shaw University, made an address showing certain needs of the medical department. Such exigencies that were clearly defined in the address of Dr. L. B. McBrayer, member of the State Examining Board, were discussed at this sessions and every doctor attending the meeting subscribed liberally to the building fund for the hospital to be erected for the medical department of Shaw University.

The paper on "Typhoid Fever" by Dr. P. W. Burnett, the Association will send to the annual meeting of the National Medical Association to be read for discussion by that body.

The local doctors gave the visiting doctors a sail down the harbor at 3 P. M., at which time an interesting meeting was held. Resolutions thanking the citizens of Wilmington for their hospitality were passed. There was a unanimity of expressions at this session that all applicants to enter the professional departments of colored institutions should have a thorough English training and that the association will help to bring about such a standard. From present indications the executive committee will select Durham for the next annual meeting. The final event of the 21st annual meeting was the banquet given the doctors by the best element of colored people in the city. The principal speakers at this function were Drs. J. T. Williams, C. H. Shepard, J. W. Walker and H. P. Kennedy.

BANKER'S WIFE A SUICIDE.

Birmingham Woman, Noted for Beauty, Shot Self Yesterday.

Birmingham, Ala., June 22.—Mrs. W. P. G. Harding, wife of the president of the First National Bank, of Birmingham, shot and killed herself at her home here this afternoon. Mr. Harding is in New York.

Nothing definite is known about the cause of Mrs. Harding's act, as her home life seemed to be very happy. She was alone in her room when she fired a pistol ball through her heart. A negro servant was on the premises and ran screaming to inform the neighbors.

Mr. Harding sailed from New York at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Savannah, it is said, nearly three hours before his wife's act. Mrs. Harding was universally regarded as one of the most beautiful women in the South. She was devoted to society and entertained a great deal at their magnificent place in Glen Iris Park, which is itself one of the show places of Birmingham. She was devoted to athletics, loved outdoor exercise and especially loved horse back riding.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydenham Moore, of Birmingham, her maiden name being Miss Amanda P. Moore. She was married to Mr. Harding October 22, 1895, and is survived by her husband and three daughters, the oldest being about 13 years old and the youngest six.

PREACHER IN SLANDER SUIT

Sensational Case Being Aired in Chicago Court—Woman on Stand.

Chicago, June 22.—Mrs. Mary A. Lavender, in her suit for $50,000 damages against Rev. E. B. Crawford, pastor of the Woodlawn Park Methodist Episcopal church, for alleged slanderous statements, associating her name with that of Rev. John D. Leek, today fonowing the testimony of Rev. Crawford took the witness stand and flatly denied the following assertions, that had been made by Rev. Crawford: "That she had confessed any immoral conduct to Rev. Crawford.

"That she had ever said: 'I have been living in sin for five years.'"

"That she had said her husband did not love her.

"That Rev. Crawford had seen her and Rev. Leek sitting in 'lovers positions,' as Rev. Crawford termed it, during the Rock River Conference at the Des Plaines Camp meeting, or in Chicago."

Dr. Crawford said Mrs. Lavender had told him that she had for five years lived in sin and wished to put the sin out of her life. Witness said she named Mr. Leek as the man for whom she had forgotten her Christianity. An alleged letter from Rev. Leek to Mrs. Lavender, who witness said Mrs. Lavender had shown him upbraided her for telling Crawford of their alleged relations, but declared "Though it drives a dagger into my heart, I shall love you just the same."

The witness said that later Mrs. Lavender asked him whether she ought to make a public confession. Witness declared it was not necessary. He told her to follow her conscience as to whether to tell her husband, John Lavender.

Dr. Crawford said that Mrs. Lavender told him she was afraid her husband would throw her out of the house. Once the husband got hold of a letter written by Mrs. Lavender to Dr. Leek and there was ascene.

Dr. Lee, the witness said, wanted to confess to him but he advised Leek to go to his superintendent Dr. Holt. Leek thought Holt's judgment would be too severe, as Holt was too young to do justice in such a case.

SMASHED AUTO RECORDS

Oldfield and Kerscher Stars at St. Paul Yesterday.

St. Paul, Minn., June 22.—Three world's automobile records were broken at the Twin City aviation meet at the State fair grounds today. Barney Oldfield lowered the one mile and the two mile records for a circular track and Ben Kerscher set a new world's mark for three miles on a circular track.

Oldfield, driving his 200 horsepower Benz made both of his records in the two mile event. Taking a flying start he made the first mile in 49 4-5 seconds and the second mile in 50 1-5 seconds making the time for the two miles 1:40. The former mile record was 50 4-5, held by Ralph DePalma and the two mile was 1.44 4-5, made by Oldfield at Los Angeles.

Kerscher's new record for three miles was made in a 100 horse power Darracq former Vanderbilt cup winner. His time was 2:36 1-5. The fomer record of 2:38 4-5, was made by Ralph DePalma on the same track one year ago.

GIRL WAS MURDERED.

Body Found Near Railroad Track—Man is Arrested.

Cumberland, Md., June 22.—With every evidence that murder had been committed, there was found in a clump of bushes not far from the Western Maryland Railroad station early this morning the body of Alice Brown, an 18-year-old girl. A deep gash in her throat showed the manner of her death.

"Buck" Nolan, who is but 18 years of age, is of athletic build and weighs some 180 pounds, is in jail charged with the murder. He and the girl left the home of the latter about midnight last night. Blood stains were found on his clothing and his hands were bloody when he was arrested. In two places his arms showed the marks of teeth, from which it is inferred that Miss Brown fought for her life. Earl Mudge and Loring Barringer, both young men, are held as witnesses in the case.

Nolan, who is said to be something of a "dope fiend", has been attentive to the girl, on whom he called early last night at her home. She was not in at the time and Nolan told her mother, who claims to have exercised little or no control over her daughter, that if the latter did not come home he would bring her there "dead or alive." She did return later, subsequent to which she again went out for the last time.

He was addicted to laudanum and whiskey as a "dope" and it is believed that Nolan induced the girl to drink some of the mixture.

THE STUDENTS CONFERENCE.

Dr. Hulley's Address Featured Yesterday's Session.

Asheville, N. C., June 22.—The two addresses of Dr. Lincel Hulley, president of John B. Stetson University at Deland, Fla., were the prominent features of the Southern Students' Conference at Montreal today. At the morning platform meeting he discussed "inspiration of great character." He declared that the youth of today could find much inspiration in the lives of any of the great figures of American history.

BIRMINGHAM MAN SUICIDE

RAILROAD LEGISLATION.

Bills in Congress Show Wide Range of Regulation for Carriers.

New York, June 22.—Of the 34,000 bills that Congress has been asked to enact into law at the present session 122 affect railroads exclusively. Omitting the so-called "Administration bill" this long list of proposed measures covers a wide range, restricting the power to make and collect rates, dictating methods of operation, and in many instances simply requiring railroads to do the precise things they now do of their own free will. An example of this work of supererogation is found in the bills of Senators Burkett, of Nebraska, and Cummins, of Iowa, and Representative Coudrey, of Missouri, requiring the railroads to carry 150 pounds of baggage free for an adult passenger. The railroads have done this for years.

A still more notable example of compelling by law the doing of some thing that is already fully provided for is the bill of Representative Mann, of Illinois, giving the Interstate Commerce Commission power to formulate regulations for the transportation of explosives. One of the most noteworthy achievements of the railroads recently has been the brilliant success of the Bureau of Explosives, organized by the railroads four years ago, in reducing the danger of handling the 5,000 cars containing explosives that are in transit every day somewhere in the United States.

Boiler inspection seems to be the pet subject among the law-makers this year, no fewer than seven bills on that topic having been introduced in the two houses. As all railroads employ large and expensive engineering staffs which keep locomotive boilers under continuous and thorough inspection as part of the routine essential to the operation of the roads, about the only substantial gain to be effected by the enactment of one of these bills will be the creation of several hundred nice government offices. The President will have the appointment of a boiler inspector general and two assistants. The Interstate Commerce Commission can appoint the 300 local inspectors without the intervention of the civil service. Incidentally, the inspectors by exercising their right to withdraw locomotives from service at any time for tests and inspection would have it in their power seriously to cripple the operation of the railroads.

Enjoying equal popularity with the boiler inspection idea is the attempt to restore the late lamented pass to its former vogue. Seven bills have been introduced to give certain privileged classes the right to ride free. These range all the way from Confederate veterans to publishers.

Senator Penrose has introduced a bill giving certain colleges $50,000 to use in determining the hammer blow, centrifugal lift and tangential throw of counter balances. As various colleges, railroad companies and mechanical engineers have already gone into this subject pretty fully without waiting for government aid, the value of this scheme, except to the colleges that get the money, is not apparent.

Still another measure is one providing for "full crews." Four bills have been introduced on this subject, and four more limiting the hours that a railroad man is to be permitted to labor. One of these bills, introduced by Representative Murphy, of Missouri, imposes a penalty of $200 for permitting an employe to work more than eight hours without taking a rest of 16 hours.

Other proposed laws require sleeping cars to be equipped with safes, provide for the Federal incorporation of railroads, the preparation of uniform freight classification by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the physical valuation of the railroads by the Commission, prohibit the transportation of the products of convict labor, and establish a commission to investigate labor disputes.

One of several bills on the subject of block signals, empowers the Interstate Commerce Commission to order any railroad to install them on one-fourth of its line by July 1, 1912. Another introduced by Representative Martin, of South Dakota, specifies dimensions of locomotives, cars and distance of structures from track.

MARRIED AT FAIR BLUFF.

Miss Ella Jenkins Becomes Bride of Mr. Letson, of Georgia.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fair Bluff, N. C., June 21.—A pretty home wedding was solemnized this morning at 7:30 A. M., at the handsome home of Mrs. A. W. Jenkins, when her daughter, Miss Ella, became the bride of Mr. Millard Clarence Letson, of Norcross, Ga. Rev. C. W. Smith, pastor of the Methodist church, of Fairmont, was the officiating minister.

The pretty home of the bride had been beautifully decorated for the auspicious occasion. The chandeliers were draped with vines and a delicate tracing of the same adorned the curtains in all the rooms. The mantle and fireplace were screened with a mass of living green interspersed with white roses.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. W. Jenkins, Jr. Next came the bride, attended by her sister, Miss Letha Jenkins, maid of honor. The bride was gowned in a light grey traveling suit with hat and gloves to match, the bride carrying a beautiful bouquet of brides roses.

Little Miss Nell Bryant, niece of the bride, acted as ring bearer, dressed in a lovely white dress.

Miss Letha Jenkins, maid of honor, was handsomely gowned in a light grey silk, carrying a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Mr. C. Wingo, of Norcross, Ga., attended Mr. Lester as best man.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Georgie Hodges, Florence, S. C.; Miss Mattie Cooper, Mullins, S. C.; Miss Rachel Oliver, Marietta, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. S. Bryant, Green Sea, S. C.; Mr. G. B. Jenkins and daughters, Conway, S. C.; Mr. Mack Oliver, Marietta, N. C.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on the 8 o'clock train for a tour of several weeks in western North Carolina.

The bride is one of Fair Bluff's most charming and popular young ladies. She is a member of one of the oldest and most highly respected families of eastern North Carolina.

The groom is well and favorably known in Norcross, Ga., where he was reared and has a wide circle of friends in Norcross.

At present the groom is a traveling salesman for McCurrin Inman, of Fairburn, Ga.

DAMAGE BY RAINS.

The Crop Conditions in the "State of Robeson."

We are surprised to note that the correspondent from Lumberton in Sunday's issue of the Star gives out the statement that the crop has improved, and aside from being a little backward, he would lead people outside of the county to think the crop is all right. He stated there was some apprehension on account of the rains. That apprehension has materialized into a sad effect. I don't think I ever saw crops generally, damaged worse from rain than now. Everything, even grass is water fired (city folks that don't understand the term "water fired", ask the first farmer you meet and he will tell you.) Cotton, corn, tobacco, oats, wheat—all—hurt more or less. The oat crop has been damaged very badly on account of falling down, it being ready for harvest when the rains set in. Wheat is a new venture in Robeson, and some of the farmers had cut and shocked it and it took the weather for more than a week and some of it sprouted in the shock and right here I would like to give a little account of what is known as the "root lice." I hardly think our friend over at Lumberton ever saw one. This pest is destined to become to this section what the boll weevil has to the States of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and others.

The root lice work on cotton when it is small, say from the time it is three weeks old until now and later. There are hundreds of acres of cotton in Robeson county ruined by them, and taking into consideration the poor stand to start with and the vast amount of young cotton and the backwardness, things are gloomy in this county for a big crop of cotton. Corn is hurt very badly. I have seen fields of it ruined beyond recovery. The crop generally is grassy, labor scarce and in a great many instances too wet to plow.

One of the largest farmers in the county said to me a day or so ago: "I have not got any crop this time." Another expressed it in this way: "I need a ditch between every row." We don't like to have crop conditions puffed up, when in fact they are very badly swiveled. If your correspondent that gives an account of a "Weeks's Doings in Lumberton" is going to give crop conditions, we would like that he take a trip into the country and do but little sleeping on the trip and see for himself, if he be a judge, and if in that he is lacking, he had better let some one else report on the conditions of the crop. It is not safe to draw conclusions on crop conditions in the country by a few well fertilized gardens in town.

If this should come under the observation of some that think I have exaggerated conditions, I refer you to any intelligent farmer in Robeson county, or any well informed business man. E. W. STONE.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC FARMERS OF THE THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

We have this year one of our own profession as a candidate for Congress and I am calling upon you to stand for your own interest, and vote for Rodolph Duffy in your primaries and conventions. We have only a few days in which to work, but it is long enough if we keep at it. Mr. Duffy is one of the largest farmers in Onslow county, and one of the best lawyers in the State. His great ability and training as a lawyer makes him the better able to fight the battles for the oppressed. There is no truer friend to the people than Rodolph Duffy—always on the alert for their interest, he delights to be with them, and talk to them of their needs; he shirks no duty as a public official or private citizen; modest to a fault in presenting his own claims for official preferment, but when nominated, his bold and vigorous campaign carries fear and conviction to the hearts of the opposition. Of his fine qualities as a citizen I need not speak, nor of his loyalty to his party, but I do wish to emphasize his great love for that occupation, upon which rests the feeding of the world—farming. Brother Farmer, get busy, and give your support to your brother farmer-lawyer and commission him to stand in the halls of the Nation's Congress and use his splendid talents against the oppression of the weak by the strong.

peals for offers of service.

"(b) A clearer apprehension on the part of both clergy and people of the requirements of the modern situation on the mission field.

"(c) More frank and confidential contact between local workers and the candidates' committees and central officials.

"(d) Sympathetic effort at the time of rejection to soften the blow and prevent the dissipation of spiritual energy consequent on the disappointment of the hopes both of the individual and of the congregation.

"The church as a whole has responsibility, not only in regard to missionary vocation, but also at the various stages of missionary preparation.

"As soon as the candidate declares his intention of offering himself for work abroad, and has been provisionally at least, accepted, the period of strictly missionary preparation begins, and the direct responsibility of the church in the matter devolves upon the special department of church organization which is concerned with missionary work.

"The institutions engaged in providing the training have a claim on generous financial support. The burden of raising the necessary funds should never be thrown on the authorities in charge of them. They have a claim still more on the support of constant and faithful intercession.

"Candidates in training can be efficiently helped in their task of self-preparation by their own immediate friends even more than by the members of candidates' committees, if these friends will keep before themselves a high standard of missionary qualification, both in character and attainment.

"Still more, on a closer analysis of the forces that vitally affect the development of each individual, it becomes clear that in the work of preparation, no less than in quickening the sense of vocation, the most effective, though often least regarded influence, is that which is exerted on every one of its members by the Christian society as a whole. There is a deep and intimate dependence of individual on corporate faith and enthusiasm. What would be the effect on the preparation of every missionary candidate, if the wisdom and earnestness and zeal which have marked the leading champions of the missionary cause in each age in the past should become characteristic, not of isolated individuals, but of the whole church in our generation?

"We have been pleading for a higher standard even in the intellectual preparation of every class of missionary. We have tried to make it clear, as it has become to us, that, considering the whole situation, the modern world everywhere must be supplied with teachers of the truth as it is in Christ whose training has been prolonged, thorough and deep. Those who speak for the Christian religion to the mass of human life must in general be masters both of that which they teach, and of the moral and intellectual condition of those whom they address. But what if this call, which we trust has come through us from the great Head of the church, should cause a deeper inquiry to arise regarding the intelligence of the home church itself and the training of the home ministry? That, indeed, is not our proper subject. But it has become clear that no portion of the church does, perhaps none can, and certainly none ought to, give a preparation to its missionary force superior to that give nto the various classes of workers at home. Perhaps there is a call in this report which will reach even that matter, and result in wider questions than we have discussed. For if the growing intelligence of the home land is to be held loyal to the truth of the gospel, it is evident that this can only be secured by keeping the interpreters of that truth, and even its teachers to little children, abreast of the best education and the severest discipline which is given to any class of scholars and any profession which Christendom produces. If the missionaries are to be more fully prepared, it is not too much to say that this can only be done by raising the standard even of the home ministry."

AN AFTERNOON WEDDING JOINS POPULAR COUPLE.

Of surpassing interest to a host of friends in this city and elsewhere is the marriage of Miss Addie Blanche Anderson, the attractive young daughter of Capt. and Mrs. O. M. Anderson, and Mr. Ferdinand William Gerken, a popular and esteemed young Wilmingtonian, which was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the home of the parents, No. 803 Ann street, in the presence of a number of the friends and admirers of the couple.

The parlors of the home had been prettily decorated for the wedding, a color scheme of green and white being most effectively carried out in the scene of floral beauty. Rev. Kenneth D. Holmes, pastor of Fifth Street M. E. Church, officiated and the beautiful ring service was used. The bride was attended as maid of honor by her friend, Miss Lillian Davis, while the groom had as his best man, his friend, Mr. Adolph G. Ahrens. The maid of honor was prettily gowned in white organdie trimmed with real lace with white picture hat to match and she carried a lovely bouquet of white carnations. The bride's costume was a traveling suit of tan pongee with hat and gloves to match, while her bouquet was of bride's roses and lillies of the valley.

Just before the ceremony Miss Gertrude Sneed sang sweetly "Because" with piano accompaniment by Miss Hattie Gardner who also played the wedding marches.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was tendered the bridal party at which Mr. and Mrs. Gerken received the happiest felicitations of their many friends. A large number of handsome wedding presents attested the high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held by their numerous friends here and elsewhere. Mr. and Mrs. Gerken left on the evening train for a bridal tour during which they will visit Jacksonville and other points of interest in Florida, returning to the city about July 1st, when they will be at home to friends at No. 803 Ann street. The bride and groom are very popular in Wilmington and will be cordially welcomed upon their return. The groom is employed in the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line in this city and has received the warmest congratulations upon his exceeding good fortune of yesterday.

THE ALLEN—BECKWITH NUPTIALS YESTERDAY.

A pretty and interesting wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jennie R. Allen, No. 906 Chesnut street, the parties to the marriage vow being Miss Mary Wooten Allen and Mr. John Watrus Beckwith, of South Jacksonville, Fla., and the event was attended by a large concourse of admiring friends.

The home was decorated very prettily in white and pink carnations, and other cut flowers, carrying out the color scheme of white and pink. The parlors, where the ceremony was performed, was especially elaborate in its decoration of cut flowers and greens. Rev. E. R. Welch, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, officiated, and the attendants were as follows: Miss Lena Standland, maid-of-honor, who wore white lace over silk, and carried a lovely bouquet of white carnations; Miss Nepple Woodcock, bridesmaid, who also wore a costume of white lace over silk and carried pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Ernest M. Allen, brother of the bride, and Mr. Henry R. Allen, another brother of the bride, was among the attendants.

The bride was attired in a most attractive traveling suit of brown and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses.

There were a large number of friends present and the wedding scene was unusually pretty.

Following the ceremony a reception was given in honor of the bridal party by the bride's mother, Mrs. Jennie R. Allen, when the couple was tendered the happiest congratulations of their many friends. The young ladies who served the guests at the reception were: Misses Hattie Willis, Baily Woodcock, Lillian Walker, Fannie Brooks, Dorothy Applewhite and Josie Newbolds. Miss Willie Thigpen rendered the wedding marches and during the ceremony played very beautifully and softly, "Two of Wild Roses."

The young bride is the accomplished daughter of the late Mr. David Charles Allen, of Columbus county, and has a host of friends in this city. The groom, Mr. John Watrus Beckwith, holds a position with the East Coast Railway at South Jacksonville, Fla., and formerly resided in this city where he formed many lasting friends. His uncle, Mr. J. P. Beckwith, is vice president of the East Coast system.

The couple left last evening on the 7 o'clock train for Washington, N. C., where they will visit the parents of the groom, and in about two weeks will go to their home in Florida to reside.

PELLAGRA AND HOOKWORM.

I was staying down in Dixie,
A week, or maybe more,
And I happened in, one evening,
At the village crossroads store;
And I heard the fellows talking,
Just as mad as mad could be;
When I asked, what was the matter,
This is what they said to me:
"Them pesky Yanks, near Boston,
Say we've got a disease
Which makes us 'tarnal lazy.
And we wish that they would please
Quit talkin' such of we-uns,
And look about at home;
There, scratch around for Hookworms
Before they down South roam.
They say we've got pellagra
Because our corn is spoiled.
I wonder if they'd cure that, too,
With dollars that are Oiled!
And should they kill the Hookworm,
You'll see we are very frank,
The danger is, that we might turn
Into a lively, bustling Yank."

LOCAL DOTS.

—There was no session of the Recorder's court yesterday and nothing doing in magisterial or police circles.

—"The Liquor Question" is the rather startling title of a folder issued by the American National Bank, of this city, and being distributed in connection with the meeting of the State Bankers. "The Liquor Question" is all that appears on the outside of the folder and naturally the subject challenges attention. On the inside the question is discussed "exhaustively" in the simple query, "Are You Going to Buy the Drinks?" Of course, further on the pamphlet tells about the American National and what it has to offer the banking public.

It developed upon their arrival here that they were married in Whiteville today by Justice of the Peace Maultsby, Johnson claiming that he was never married to May Herrin with whom he has been living as man and wife for some time. Some queer complications are expected to develop when the mother of the girl arrives on the scene.

Plea Before Governor for Columbus County Man in Prison.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 22.—Governor Kitchin heard this afternoon special pleas by Col. J. C. L. Harris and Walter Clark Jr., for pardoning H. B. Register, the Columbus county man, formerly United States commissioner, serving a life sentence as accomplice with Jabel Register, his son, and others, in the noted murder case in 1903. Jabel was hanged at the time and commutation to life imprisonment given his father, now 73 years old. Crowson, another accomplice on two occasions, declared, it is said, he had sworn falsely against old man Register the last day, before he died in prison. Register's aged wife and other relatives are making a big fight for the pardon on the ground that he had nothing to do with the murder.

"FAKE" BILLS OF LADING.

It is expected that this committee will appoint a substitute committee to negotiate with those interested in the matter in he United States.

who were instrumental in the establishment of the State Board of Health, the late Dr. Wood, of Wilmington, being one of the number. Dr. Laughinghouse referred to the splendid work of Dr. Lewis, of Raleigh, formerly secretary of the State Board of Health, and declared that he was the most level-headed man in the State. He expressed to Dr. Lewis the hearty thanks of the people of the State and of the medical fraternity. Dr. Laughinghouse stated that the success of public health in North Carolina depended upon the interest taken by the people as individuals. The Board of Health, he said, can do nothing without the hearty co-operation of the people. Next in importance is the county superintendent of health. He thought that too little attention was paid to the filling of the position with competent men. County Commissioners, he said, in many instances elect physicians for the place without a thought as to their qualifications. Competent county superintendents of health must be had, he said, otherwise local sanitation is unsafe.

Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health, endorsed the remarks of Dr. Lauginhouse and gave figures to show that North Carolina is spending a very small sum for public health. In his opinion the medical profession should be vested with the power of naming the health officer. The matter was interestingly discussed by Dr. C. W. Stiles, the hookworm expert, who spoke of the importance of proper sanitation. He referred to the activity of one county superintendent in North Carolina in making a town clean up which caused many to ask for the resignation of the physician. He said that it was characteristic of Americans that they do not love the health officer who points out the unclean places and requires that they be put in sanitary condition. Dr. Stiles said that the State Society must take hold of the matter and that North Carolina would not be cleaned up until such action is taken. Where counties will not clean up Dr. Stiles thought the State Board should have the power to step in and do the cleaning and charge the amount to the county. He did not think it would be necessary to do this in more than two or three counties as it would be so much more expensive than for the county to do the work.

Upon motion of Dr. Hayes the secretary was instructed to send a copy of Dr. Lauginghouse's address to the State papers and have it published at the expense of the society.

Dr. Stewart, of Monroe, always sparkling with wit, made a logical and at the same time humorous address in connection with the discussion on Dr. Lauginhouse's paper. He said that there were some people in his county, Union, that were so ignorant that they would "rather die and go to h—" than be vaccinated. He favored compulsory vaccination and general distribution of eaith literature.

A motion was made to the effect that the county superintendents of health be appointed by the county medical associations instead of by the County Commissioners as at present, but after discussion the motion was tabled.

"The Physician and the Public Health," was the subject of a splendid paper read by Dr. Richard H. Lewis, of Raleigh, formerly secretary of the State Board of Health, and one of the most prominent physicians in the State. He spoke of the importance of organization for the prevention of diseases and stated that machinery had been put in motion for the dissemination of literature and more thorough organization of the forces throughout the State. In speaking of the physician, Dr. Lewis said that he should not regard his profession in a commercial light. He made reference to the crusade against the hookworm and tuberculosis and declared that eradication of the diseases depended upon the efforts of the profession in the fight.

Conjoint Session.

A conjoint session of the State Medical Society and the State Board of Health was held at noon, being called to order by Dr. G. G. Thomas, of Wilmington, chairman of the State Board of Health, with Dr. Wood, president of the Medical Society, also occupying a seat on the platform. The session lasted for nearly an hour and was devoted exclusively to the reception of reports from the officers of the Board of Health.

The first report was that of Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health, which was especially interesting to the society. In beginning he mentioned with regret the death of Dr. James Anthony Burroughs and referred to the general interest being taken in public health by the people of the State. He said that "sanitation course" may be prescribed for public schools this year and spoke in high praise of the work being done by the Woman's Betterment Association. In referring to his address before the editors two weeks ago Dr. Rankin stated that he was satisfied that the press of the State was wide awake and interested to the extent of doing its full share for the betterment of health conditions. He gave to Col. J. L. Ludlow, of Winston-Salem, the well known engineer, credit for being of incalculable aid to him in the protection of the water supply of the State. After giving some statistics relative to the death rate in this and other States for the past year, he stated that he thought that North Carolina may soon be accepted by the Federal government as a registration State. Statistics for three months of the present year show the death rate to be 16 1 per cent. per thousand per annum. The health of the State suffered no unusual loss during the past year, except as to smallpox, which cost the State some $40,000 or $50,000, he said. There have been epidemics of typhoid fever at several places, but the cases were soon under control.

Smallpox Method Opposed.

"Now," said Dr. Rankin, "I come to something revolutionary. I oppose the present method of handling smallpox. I am opposed to quarantine for three reasons: First, it gives a false protection and keeps many from being vaccinated; second, nearly every one would be vaccinated were it not for the quarantine; third, in the States where the quarantine has been abolished the disease has greatly decreased." Dr. Rankin spoke of the establishment of the hookworm commission and the gift of Rockefeller of one million dollars, which, he said, is appreciated by all Southern people who really have the interest of the South at heart. He said that Dr. J. A. Ferrell, of Duplin county, had been named by the State Board of Health as assistant secretary of the Commission for North Carolina.

Hookworm Disease.

Dr. J. A. Ferrell was present and made an interesting and comprehensive report. Regarding the status of the hookworm disease in North Carolina, he said that examination had been made of 600 North Carolina College students in 43 counties and that one-third were affected with the disease. In the counties that have reported some 3,000 whites and 250 colored have been treated for disease. After giving the symptoms of the disease, Dr. Ferrell said that probably one-fourth of the rural population of North Carolina is affected by the disease. Plans have been made for a vigorous campaign on the hookworm. The State is to be divided into districts, each composed of five or six counties, making a total of some 18 districts. Physicians and laymen will be appointed to carry on the fight and a field agent will be employed for each district. The agent will be held responsible for his district. He will be equipped with a portable microscope and furnished with literature bearing on the disease and wherever practicable will make free examinations. The required number of field agents will cost the State $20,000 annually and will soon use up North Carolina's portion of the Rockefeller fund, therefore Dr. Ferrell recommended that the Legislature be requested to provide for the maintenance of these agents. He estimated that the disease is now costing the State $187 500 annually and declared it would be much cheaper, from a monetary standpoint alone, to carry on an extensive campaign against the disease.

State Chemist's Report.

Dr. C. A. Shore, head of the State Biological Laboratory, then submitted his annual report, reviewing in detail the work of his department. He recommended that the Legislature be rquested to change the law relative to anti-toxin so that anti-toxin may be furnished to the citizens of the State free of cost through the department. He mentioned the fact that it had been decided that his department should co-operate with the hookworm commission and that Mr. W. A. Shore had been appointed for the special work in this connection. Out of a total of 1,486 examinations of public water supply only 5 per cent, was found to be bad. He thought the control of the watersheds of the State of much importance. He declared it a reproach upon the fair name of North Carolina that dogs with mange should be allowed to run at large, stating that the number of persons forced to take the Pasteur treatment the past year was alarming, more than 150 North Carolinians taking the treatment outside the State. Rabid dogs had been reported from nearly every county in the State. In the absence of a sitisfactory dog law, he said that the only remedy was to kill every dog and cat known to have been bitten. He then read the present law relative to rabid dogs, which, he said, many did not know was on the statute books.

The last report was that submitted by Dr. C. A. Julian, of Thomasville, assistant secretary for the tuberculosis department of the State Board of Health. He stated that there were 12 active county tuberculosis associations in the State and addresses have been delivered in 15 counties. Special tuberculosis bulletins are prepared and distributed by the department.

Dr. R. H. Lewis, of Raleigh, said that he wanted to express his appreciation of the high order of the reports and declared that it was evident to all that great work had been done during the past year. He felt that his crowning work as a health officer was the part he took in securing such capable young men in pushing forward the work of the Board of Health. The work, he said, was in most capable hands.

There being no further business before the conjoint session, adjournment was taken.

Down the River.

A majority of the visitors and many townspeople boarded special suburban cars in front of the Tarrymoore Hotel at 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon and came to the city, going directly to the wharf of the steamer Wilmington on which they embarked at 2:30 o'clock for a trip down the historic Cape Fear river. Luncheon was served aboard the boat under the direction of the local committee, by the young ladies of the State Normal Alumnae Association. This was undoubtedly the most enjoyable social feature arranged in honor of the visitors. The party returned to the city late in the afternoon and boarded special suburban cars in waiting and returned to the beach.

House of Delegates.

A special session of the House of Delegates was held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning with Dr. Edward J. Wood, president, presiding, and Dr. D. A. Stanton, secretary, at his post. The specific purpose of the meeting was to receive the report of the nominating committee, but the chairman announced that the committee was not yet ready to make report. After a discussion of some other matters of interest only to members of the society adjournment was taken, subject to the call of the president, it being stated that the committee would be ready at night or this morning. It was decided last night to hold the meeting this morning.

Anatomy and Surgery.

Immediately after adjournment of the House of Delegates the Section of Anatomy and Surgery, Dr. John Hey Williams, of Asheville, chairman, met in the parlors of the Tarrymoore, and the session continued until 1 o'clock. Dr. Williams, who presided, read the opening paper, after which Dr. F. T. Merriwether, of Asheville, read a paper on "Gall Bladder and Stomach Trouble." Dr. A. J. Crowell, of Charlotte, was on the programme for a paper and expected to give a practical demonstration, but his patient had not arrived at the hour. Dr. Merriwether was followed by Dr. H. A. Royster, of Raleigh, who spoke on Stone in Kidney," making an excellent address. A paper, "Treatment of Hyperemesis Gravidarum," by Dr. H. McKee Tucker, of Raleigh, which was on the programme under "Section of Obstetrics" was transferred and was read before the Section of Anatomy and Surgery. This was followed by a paper "What Can Be Done for Relief of Urinary Discomforts of Elderly Men," by Dr. Robert C. Bryan, of Richmond, Va., which was pronounced one of the most enlightening and interesting before the medical men at this session. Next was a paper by Dr. A. M. Shipley, an able member of the faculty of the University of Maryland, Baltimore, Md., on "The Treatment of Diffuse Peritonitis." Following the reading of this paper adjournment was taken, the hour having arrived for departure for the city on the special suburban cars. Other papers on the programme were omitted for lack of time.

Annual Oration Last Night.

By far the largest attended and probably the most interesting, for a large number of years, of any session yet held was that last night, when the annual oration was delivered. The session convened shortly before 9 o'clock with Dr. Edward J. Wood, president, presiding. Every seat in the spacious assembly hall was taken and a large number were standing in the rear and on the veranda. Among the number were several ladies and gentlemen from the city. Among the prominent out-of-town visitors present was Mr. J. Elwood Cox, a prominent manufacturer, and not an unknown politician, of High Point.

After calling the meeting to order Dr. Edward J. Wood announced that the secretary of the society had received a communication from the secretary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association announcing the appointment as delegates from that or-

JEFFRIES ARRIVES AT RENO

Begins Training in His New Camp at Moana Springs Today—Satisfied With Change to Nevada—New Arena.

Reno, Nev., June 22.—James J. Jeffries tonight is installed in the training camp prepared for him at Moana Springs, three miles south of Reno and work on the arena for the fight is under way. Promoter Tex Rickard says he is satisfied that State officers will make no attempt to interfere with the fight.

Promoter Sid Hester announced tonight that, having failed to get the use of the Jeffries and Johnson arena, he will take out a license and build an arena of his own to stage the Langford and Ketchel contest on the morning of July 4th. This is the fight situation in Reno tonight.

Jeffries' new quarters are so crowded that only those actually connected with the fighter's preparation can be with him there. Notwithstanding lack of room, however, Jeffries says he is thoroughly satisfied and will remain at the place until the day of the fight. He and his party have a rose-covered, two-story cottage, similar in style, but not in size, to that occupied by him at Ben Lomond, Cal. By noon tomorrow most of the apparatus for gymnasium practice will be ready for use.

Corbett, Choynski and others expressed themselves as well satisfied with the new camp.

While Jeffries looked longingly at the road this afternoon he did no work. After a hot soda bath and a rub, he busied himself in straightening out his baggage.

Tomorrow he will take to the highway for a little jaunt. Jim Corbett has advised Jeffries not to undertake heavy road work, as it would only serve to slow him down.

No reply to the telegram sent Gov. Dickerson has been received by Rickard. The promoter expresses himself that no matter what pressure is brought to bear on Nevada's chief executive, the Governor will not interfere with the fight. Still, Rickard would rest easier if he had the Governor's personal assurance, and he is impatiently awaiting a telegram bearing the Governor's signature and promising immunity.

Rickard today said that if the fight were stopped in Nevada he would not try to stage it elsewhere. But he felt sure that there would be no trouble in Reno.

Everybody tonight wanted to know just what Jeffries thought of Reno as compared with Ben Lomond. If his replies to questions were pieced together the composite statement would be about as follows:

"I wish to tell the people of Nevada and of Reno in particular, that I am glad the fight is going to be held in Reno. I can go ahead now, knowing that there is to be no further change in plans.

"I am in just as good condition as I ever was in my life, or better, and I can promise the people of Nevada that the white man's end of the battle of the century will be well taken care of on July 4th."

Tom Flanagan busied himself today preparing for the negro champion's arrival Friday. Two boxing platforms are building beside the road house picked out for Johnson's camp. One is to have a wooden floor, the other a floor of tamped earth.

"Johnson won't have any complaints to make when he sees the camp I've picked for him," Flanagan said. "Everything he needs for his work will be there and the living accommodations are great."

TENER IS NOMINATED.

Named by Republicans for Governor of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 22.—The Republican State convention held here today nominated without opposition the following ticket:

Governor, Congressman John K. Tener, of Washington county; Lieutenant Governor, Congressman John M. Reynolds, of Bedford; Commissioner of Internal Affairs, Henry Huck, of Lebanon county, the present incumbent; State Treasurer, Charles F. Wright, of Susquehanna county, who was recently appointed by Governor Stuart to fill the vacancy in that office.

The platform commends both the National and State administrations. The recently enacted tariff bill is endorsed as being in accord with the Republican policy expressed in its last National platform.

"No increase in the price of common necessities of life can honestly be attributed to the tariff for the duties upon them were not raised," says the platform adopted.

It was probably the briefest and most harmonious State convention in the history of the party in the State.

ganization to the annual meeting of the Medical Society of Messrs. Robt. R. Bellamy and Bernice C. Moore, prominent druggists of Wilmington, and Mr. W. H. Justice, and was pleased to state that Messrs. Bellamy and Moore were present.

Dr. Wood said that as a rule the doctors of the State are not orators, but North Carolina has a few orators among the medical profession a that the society would have the pleasure of hearing an address from one of that number, Dr. Cyrus Thompson, of Jacksonville, N. C. There is no doubt of the fact that a majority of those present were there especially to hear the oration of Dr. Thompson and when he arose he was greeted with a storm of applause. His subject was "Public Sentiment in the State and in the individual." He is an orator of wide reputation and he fully sustained his reputation last night. He was liberally and frequently applauded, and his deep, thoughtful address, delivered in his inimitable manner, was unquestionably one of the features of the annual gathering of the doctors. His address in full will be published in Sunday's paper, being crowded out this morning. In course of his remarks Dr. Thompson paid a tribute to Dr. Chas. B. Aycock, the educational Governor, and Dr. J. Y. Joyner, the present State Superintendent of Public Instruction, both of whom have accomplished great things in the way of education of the people of the State. He spoke at some length of the great progress being made in North Carolina and declared that it was just as important to look after the physical man as the intellectual man, and in this connection he praised John D. Rockefeller for his gift of one million dollars to wage a campaign against the hookworm, which, Dr. Thompson said, would result in saving a million lives. Dr. Thompson spoke for more than an hour and he held the undivided attention of his audience.

Tuesday Afternoon's Session.

The afternoon session of the society Tuesday convened at 2:30 o'clock with Dr. John Q. Myers, of Charlotte, second vice president, presiding, President Wood being engaged in the House of Delegates which was in session at the same hour. The feature of the session came just before adjournment for the afternoon, when Dr. Wood, who with Dr. R. Harlee Bellamy, has made quite an extensive study of the disease, exhibited a pellagra patient—a child about five years old. The little sufferer was viewed with much interest by the physicians, all of whom evidenced a desire to learn something of the disease, its cause and a cure, if such is possible. Dr. Kent, Caldwell county, brought a man to the convention with him who is thought to be afflicted with the disease and he will be examined by Drs. Wood and Bellamy.

The first number at the afternoon session was an address by Dr. Wm. DeB. McNider, of Chapel Hill, on the "Part Played by Oedema of the Renal Cells in the Development of Anuria," which was a most interesting and instructive presentation of the matter.

Dr. H. A. Royster, the well known and prominent physician of Raleigh, whom the medical men of the State always listen to with keen interest and rare pleasure, made a short address on "Experience with the Pozzi Operation for Dysmenorrhoea," being followed by Dr. Rigdon O. Dees, of Greensboro, who read a paper on "The Uses and Abuses of Uterine Curette," which contained much of interest to the profession and the paper was discussed by Dr. Royster, of Raleigh, Dr. B. S. Moore, of Charlotte, and others, which was considered a decided compliment to the prominent young physician.

Dr. J. T. J. Battle, of Greensboro, was on the programme for a paper on "Some Home Office Secrets in Regard to Insurance Examinations," but he was unavoidably detained at home and his paper was read by Dr. Albert Anderson, of Raleigh, and freely discussed by members of the society, and much matter of interest to the physicians with reference to the examination of applicants for insurance was brought out.

This was followed by the reading of a paper by Dr. Wm. A. Graham, of Durham, on "Rupture of the Uterus in Labor with Laparotomy and Recovery," which was discussed by several members. Next there was a paper by Dr. L. B. McBrayer, of Asheville, whose subject was "The Role of Infection in Relation to Disease of the Uterus and Admexae." It was a splendid paper and dealt with a matter of vital importance and one in which the physicians evidenced no little interest. Dr. Royster, of Raleigh, and Dr. Crowell, of Charlotte, discussed the paper.

With the exhibition of the pellagra patient and some explanatory remarks regarding the case and the disease the session adjourned at 5 o'clock.

House of Delegates.

The first session of the House of Delegates convened at 2:30 o'clock with Dr. Edward J. Wood, president, presiding and Dr. D. A. Stanton, the secretary, at his post. The roll call showed that there were present 67 delegates, representing as many counties, out of a total of 98. The following were named as the nominating committee to report the first thing after roll call yesterday morning:

First District—Dr. W. H. Ward.
Second District—Dr. J. E. Noble.
Third District—Dr. R. B. Wilson.
Fouth—Dr. L. T. Wharton.
Fifth—Dr. J. F. Highsmith.
Sixth—Dr. T. S. Faucette.
Seventh—Dr. E. C. Register.
Eighth—Dr. H. T. Bahnson.
Ninth—Dr. W. P. Ivey.
Tenth—Dr. J. Howell Way.

The report of the secretary, Dr. D. A. Stanton, of High Point, showed that upon the whole the reports from the various county societies were encouraging, but called attention to some that are lagging behind and are not taking the proper interest in the welfare of the society. He urged more interest in the local societies through which greater interest would be aroused in the State society. In this connection Dr. H. T. Bahnson, of Winston-Salem, asked that a committee be appointed to be known as the welfare committee to find out the cause of the lack of interest in some of the local societies and aid them in getting a firm hold on the medical men. The suggestion of Dr. Bahnson was put in the form of a motion and was adopted.

Reports were then received from the Councillors by districts; First District, Dr. Oscar McMullin; second, Dr. R. A. Whitaker; third, being given by President Wood; fourth, Dr. Dickinson; fifth, Dr. J. F. Highsmith; sixth, Dr. A. J. Crowell in the absence from the hall of Dr. E. C. Register; seventh, Dr. C. M. Strong; eighth, no report; ninth, Dr. Anderson, of Statesville, in absence of the member from the district; tenth, Dr. L. B. McBrayer. Dr. Jas. M. Parrott, of Kinston, made a short talk, in which he supplemented the report from the second district. The reports contained nothing of general interest.

Favors Good Roads.

Under the head of communications, Secretary Stanton read a letter inclosing the resolutions adopted two weeks ago by the Good Roads' Association and the North Carolina Press Association. There was a spirited discussion as to whether or not this resolution should be adopted by the society, Dr. Jas. M. Parrott, of Kinston, opposing the clause which provides for a bond issue and also the clause providing for use of convict labor. Dr. L. B. McBrayer, of Asheville, took issue with him. Dr. Cyrus Thompson thought both correct in a way, but took the position that as improved highways are a necessity the resolution should be adopted and means could be agreed upon later. Other members looked at the matter in the same light and the resolution was adopted with but one dissenting vote, this being cast by Dr. Parrott.

The House adopted a resolution favoring New Orleans as the place for holding the world's exposition in celebration of the completion of the Panama Canal, the resolutions being the same that have been adopted by various bodies throughout the State. Dr. H. T. Bahnson, of Winston-Salem, suggested that Wilmington be substituted for New Orleans.

Upon motion of Dr. Parrott, seconded by Dr. McBrayer, the rules were suspended and Dr. Chas. W. Stiles was elected a member of the North Carolina Medical Society. Dr. McBrayer stated that the Board of Medical Examiners, of which he is a member, had just recently issued to Dr. Stiles a license to practice in this State.

President Wood stated that there was no further business before the House of Delegates, save the report of the nominating committee to be made yesterday. The meeting adjourned shortly before 5 o'clock and the delegates went over to the general session.

YALE COMMENCEMENT ENDS.

Says Taft is in Eel Grass—Hill Was a Speaker.

New Haven, Conn., June 22.—The commencement at Yale ended with the alumni dinner this afternoon. President Taft said:

"Bill Taft of '78 is in the second mile of the race, and he is in the eel grass. Brethren, some of the best Yale victories have been won over the third and fourth miles."

Great applause greeted this sally. A little later the following message was read by President Hadley:

"It is the best eel grass we ever saw.

(signed) "WILLIAM H. TAFT."

The alumni were told by President Hadley that the past has been the banner year in university gifts and in alumni contributions, the former totalling $2,235,000, and the latter a l[illegible] over $150,000, these not including the Sloane laboratory and other gifts to the scientific school. James J. Hill was introduced as the youngest Yale son.

President Hadley said that two members of the family had won Yale degrees, three had achieved them and the last one has had a degree thrust upon him.

Mr. Hill expressed his gratitude for the honor shown him by the University. It gave him pleasure to say in simple words the thoughts which have helped through life.

"I have never found the place where the lie would take the place of truth. In nearly 50 years of active business experience I have never found a transaction worth while when it came under the shadow of a trick or a deception. I have tried to keep my hands clean; I am now too old, I think to learn tricks."

Mr. Hill then spoke of the value of University training as compared with that of discipline in the school of the world laying stress on the need of the trained mind as well as practical bards in the years to come. The future of the Nation will rest upon the courts, and free government will make its final stand upon the decisions of the United States Supreme Court, he said in conclusion.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF.

Lured Wife From Whom He Had Separated to Death.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 22.—Frank C. Darby, 30 years old, a former Wheeling policeman, killed his wife and himself in his room at the Columbia Hotel late today. He had urged the woman, from whom he had lived apart for several months, to call on him, assuring her that they would adjust their troubles. They had been together but a few minutes in the hotel room when shots were heard. Two of them had killed Mrs. Darby and a third blown out his own brains. Darby lost his position on the police force a few months ago when he is alleged to have struck his wife with his mace and it is declared that he has been insanely jealous of other attentions to her since their separation. Darby was prominent in local Wheeling fraternities.

UNION MURDER MYSTERY.

No Clue Yet as to Finding of Body of Young Parks.

Monroe, June 22.—There are no developments in the Parks murder case. The coroner's jury has not yet rendered its verdict. The details of the murder are scarce. The dead man disappeared from home last Wednesday and his body was found several days later in the woods within a quarter of a mile of his home. The back of his head was blown off, and the body was decaying. The assassin left no clue. Parks' father, Mobley Parks, of South Carolina, is very wealthy, and it is said that he is to employ expert detectives.

CAROLINIAN IN LUCK.

High Point Man Claims Discovered Pot of Gold in Tenn.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 22.—Thomas L. Rodgers, of High Point, N. C., has published a statement to the effect that he recently found $90,000 in gold coin in what is known as the Rock House cave, on the Clinch river in Hancock county, Tenn. Rodgers states that the information that such a sum of money was in the cave was revealed to him in a dream. As he relates it, he went from his North Carolina home to his childhood home in Hancock county to explore the cave and with a lantern made the exploration alone and found in a large chamber many feet from the entrance, an upturned kettle, under which was stacked the gold. Around the old kettle was found rusty bayonets, canteens and other things indicating that the cave was used as a place of refuge during the civil war. Beside the kettle was the skeleton of a man and upon a slate stone slab nearby was an inscription telling of the gold and directing the finder to take charge of it upon condition that he bury the body of the owner in a designated spot on the summit of the mountain in which the cave is located.

Rodgers says he complied with the terms of the inscription and left the cave with the money in his possession.

THE ANNUAL ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT ELLINGTON

Easily the feature of the opening session of the 14th annual convention of the North Carolina Bankers' Association at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, last evening, was the annual address of President John O. Ellington, vice president and cashier of the Fourth National Bank, of Fayetteville. In his address Mr. Ellington discusses briefly and with suggestions the questions of banks of small capital, the evils of a large directorate, the subject of taxation, attorneys' fees and the proper restrictions relative to bills of lading. In addressing his fellow bankers of the State, Mr. Ellington said:

Members of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The fraternity in North Carolina has at least one banker orator—one man who seems to be ready to respond when called upon and always gives us something to think about; in fact, he has a National reputation as the best "cold water" after dinner speaker among the North Carolina bankers. Yet, in opening his address as president of this association at its fourth annual meeting at Greensboro, he used these words: "An unwritten law seems to require that the president of this association deliver an opening address. In this particular instance, I feel that the breach rather than the observance of this custom might be more profitable."

If an orator with a reputation felt that way, you can imagine my feelings. However, I will confess, I wanted the job, for it is an honor of which any North Carolina banker should feel proud; and I am going to do my best to make a few profitable suggestions.

We are here for business and pleasure. We want every member to be present at all of the business meetings and after they are over, we want all of you to enjoy yourselves to the fullest extent. There are many ways of doing this at delightful Wrightsville Beach.

North Carolina should feel proud of her banks. They and all things commercial have made a good showing and a substantial growth for the past year; and, with good crops, I see no reason why they should not improve during the coming year. Every National Bank in North Carolina is a member of the association and a large majority of State banks and trust companies. Now what all of us must do is to get the others to join and we will then be the only State in all of these United States that has every bank as a member. All of you are familiar with the totals of the last statement and it is not my purpose to bore you with any statistics. The secretary will do that.

Suggestions.

To my mind, the most serious thing that confronts us today is the extremely small capital with which State banks are allowed to commence business. I know that some of our safest and best institutions are of the smallest capital, for after all the men in charge are practically the safety valve and a great many of the small bankers are very fortunate in the selection of their officers. But is it not dangerous to allow the organization of a bank to solicit deposits with only $5,000 capital? Don't you think we should ask the Legislature to increase the amount to at least $10,000? A community that wants a bank should be willing to raise that amount. I am glad to know, however, that most of those now organized are starting with $10,000 or more.

Another suggestion I think wise, would be to so amend the laws, both State and National, that banks cannot have large boards of directors but have a small number of select men to direct. Too frequently a bank has a large board, selecting men purely for their influence or for advertising purposes. We will have to admit that this is not wise and I am sure that it would be a relief to some of us if the laws were so amended that the maximum board should be five for a capital of $50,000 or less and one aditional director for each additional $20,000 of capital. This would prevent the present large and unwieldy boards that some of us now have and would do away entirely with the election of a man because he had business and influence but would cause the selection of a man for his ability to direct and would also enable the banks to pay their directors for this service and thereby increase the interest and efficiency of the board.

Another very serious question we should consider; in fact, it is the greatest burden upon our banks today, is taxation. Some of us no doubt have lost stockholders on account of the present unjust and unequal manner of taxing our stock. Real estate, on an average, is taxed at about one-third to one-half of its value throughout the State and other properties in about the same proportion. Bank stock is taxed at its full value, which makes it very unjust and unequal. I think it is our duty to use all legitimate means to get this tax equalized and the law so amended that the banks pay it direct, making bank stock non-taxable as to the holder. This would make it much more desirable as an investment. The bankers, as a whole, should work for a uniform tax on banking and trust company capital. Messrs. Helm & Helm, general counsel for the Kentucky Bankers' Association, have gathered together some very valuable statistics on this subject. In their suggestions they state as follows: "A careful investigation, covering about two years, shows that the variance as between States as to the basis of valuation is from 20 to 100 per cent. Our State is reported as follows: 'Property is assessed in this State anywhere from 20 to 80 per cent, it being generally understood that it is supposed to be on a basis of two-thirds. City property is assessed from 50 to 75 per cent., while country property is from 40 to 60 per cent.' I think their correspondent is very conservative. To my mind the most just tax now levied against banks is that of New York State, which is in part as follows: "On aggregate value of its shares 1 per cent. The proceeds of this tax is then distributed betwen the State and the different local jurisdictions in the proportion which the tax rate of each jurisdiction bears to the aggregate of all the rates. This in lieu of any other taxes against the bank. The assessed value of the real estate is deducted from the aggregate value of all the shares." If we can get this law adopted in North Carolina, it will serve the purpose of making bank stock non-taxable as to the holder, and, while it might reduce our dividends, it would certainly make our stock much more desirable as an investment.

Another amendment to our law that would be of great benefit and is now a law in several States, is a provision for a reasonable attorney's fee when a bank or individual is forced to collect a note by process of law. As the law now stands, should you have a past due note and hand to your attorney for collection, his fee usually amounts to more than the interest you receive. It would not work any hardship on your customer provided he attended to his papers promptly and carried out his promise to the bank or individual. If he does not do this, he should pay the cost. The banks as a whole are liberal with their customers and I am sure that none of them would take advantage of this law to enrich their attorney, because we want business and we cannot secure it unless we give the proper service and consideration to our customers.

Another thing that we should strive for is a proper restriction relative to bills of lading. They should be uniform and have the proper safeguards for our protection. Another very important thing is to adopt a uniform warehouse receipt, properly drawn to cover all commercial or farm products stored in warehouses in order that we may be properly protected should we accept them as collateral.

It is our desire to have all of these matters and other matters of interest discussed freely from the floor by the members. We should make these yearly gatherings experience meetings where ideas and thoughts can be exchanged and suggestions made. No doubt each of you can help the others. Do not think that because your bank is small and your experience limited, you cannot help the older, larger and more experienced banker. No doubt you can offer suggestions that will make him stop and think and in turn he can help you. New things come up every day in the banking business which may not happen to the other fellow. We want to see this convention a large brotherly affair. We want everyone to go home and report to his bank that he has learned something and does not want to miss another meeting.

But, we do not want to devote all of our time to work and "shop" talk. The Wilmington Clearing House Association have many delightful things planned for your enjoyment. I am glad to know that the Wilmington ladies are on the programme for a great many of them attend these meetings and vie with each other in extending to all the good old North State hospitality. We know by experience that they are delightful hostesses. We want everyone of you to enjoy yourselves thoroughly, but while the association is in business session, we want all of you in your seats for these sessions are held for the benefit of every member and you should give the association your support by your presence.

CHAIR CAR SERVICE.

Convenient Arrangement for People Bound for Blowing Rock.

(Charlotte Observer, June 22.)

For the convenience of passengers traveling to the Browing Rock, Edgemont and Linville country this Summer over the Seaboard and the Carolina & Northwestern Railroads, a chair car has been put in service from Charlotte. This car is attached to the Seaboard train which leaves the local station at 4:45 P. M. and when it reaches Lincolnton it will be transferred to the C. & N. W., thereby eliminating the disagreeable change on the part of possengers. Passengers are thus allowed to go right through without a change and the officials of both roads co-operate in this movement for the accommodation of Summer travel.

This schedule will be especially attractive to week-end passengers who wish to enjoy a few hours in the mountain atmosphere and return to business on Monday.

Another Big Warehouse.

(Special to Greensboro News.)

Wilson, N. C., June 21.—The British-American Tobacco Company today purchased a lot containing two and one-half acres, on which it will immediately erect a mammoth tobacco storage warehouse, with a capacity of 2,000,000 pounds. The building will be completed in time for the storage of the 1910 crop.

MR. WILLIAM A. HUNT

Cashier Citizens Bank, Henderson, N. C,

SECRETARY AND TREASURER NORTH CAROLINA BANKERS' ASSOCIATION IN SESSION AT WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH.

WELCOME TO STATE BANKERS

Address Delivered Last Night by President Taylor of Wilmington Chamber of Commerce at Wrightsville Beach.

The welcome to the large number of bankers of the State and others who are here for the 14th annual convention of the North Carolina Bankers' Association was delivered last night by President J. A. Taylor, of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Taylor said in part:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the North Carolina Bankers' Association:

In extending you this welcome I am performing no perfunctory duty, because it was perfectly understood with the local committee of arrangements that I would be under no obligation to indulge in flowers of rhetoric or meaningless figures of speech, but as a practical man could talk to you as practical men. My reason for this is two-fold: Because of my want of ability to paint rainbows and because of your want of disposition to chase them.

Wrightsville Beach counts it an honor to have your convention, and is especially fortunate in being the scene of your first convening since you have been by popular acclaim denominated patriots; and you, gentlemen, will be peculiarly fortunate if you escape this presence without floating a bond issue for Wrightsville Beach improvements. Not that its assets are not good, because I assure you they are the salt of the earth, but because you should not be required to absorb more North Carolina securities at this time.

But yesterday you were ordinary citizens—today patriots enshrined in the hearts of the people. In these days patriotism is not reckoned a normal condition, and only in the exigency of a public danger is this quality generally and generously recognized. In the State's recent crisis you saved the public credit, as you have at all times and under all circumstances conserved private credit, and the standing of the North Carolina banker is higher today than ever before. Within the past few months both the city of New York and the city of Philadelphia have failed to float their bonds, and there is no record of private citizens, either individually or collectively, coming to the rescue; but when North Carolina's credit was imperilled by libellous assault from without, there was found a body of citizens willing to invest in unremunerative securities that the State's credit might not suffer, and that body of men was the North Carolina bankers. So unusual was the situation and so patriotic your course that I cast about in my mind to find a fellow to your conduct. I found it not, and the nearest approach that I am able to recall is an incident that occurred during the War of 1812, which it may be of interest to relate: Gallatin, than whom few greater have lent their talents to the public service, was then Secretary of the Treasury and had offered a loan of sixteen million dollars. The war was in progress and the political situation, especially in the New England States, much disturbed. Events in that section were fast shaping to the Hartford convention, and the South as well as New England thought the dissolution of the Union imminent. As evidence of this New England subscribed less than $500,000 of the loan, and the South only a little more than $500,000, and of the South's subscription Charleston's alone was more than half. Only six million dollars of the loan had been placed when Mr. Gallatin appealed to personal friends, with the result that David Parish and Stephen Girard, of Philadelphia, subscribed for eight millions and John Jacob Astor, of New York, for two millions of the issue, and thus was the public credit saved. These capitalists took the bonds at 88, with commission of one-quarter, so that a good margin of profit inured to them; but this does not lessen their claim to public gratitude, and especially when it is remembered that all of them were foreigners. However, there is a popular prejudice in favor of those times. Patriotism then is supposed to have been a common property and a natural growth, while today it is looked upon as an exotic, a relic of other days, so that your conduct is all the greater. It cannot be denied that the public mind is permeated with the conviction that selfish purpose, both individual and corporate, overrides every public consideration; nor can it be denied that there is much ground for this feeling but your example in coming to the rescue of the State's credit demonstrates that you are North Carolinians first and bankers next, and your patriotic course cannot fail to do much to discredit this pessimistic idea. By this deed you have not only made an honorable record for patriotism but established to the world our industrial soundness and financial competency and your confidence in the State's public faith.

The bank is the greatest single asset of a community. By its stability and conservatism it inspires confidence, gathers the scattered resources of the community, and while cultivating the habit of saving encourages the spirit of industry. Through its medium the collective wealth of the country is put at the disposal of business demands, and on its credit the ends of commerce are accomplished. It is at once the conservator of the public credit and the promoter of private enterprise, and in recognizing character and capacity as commercial assets translates the potential resources of the community into wealth producing factors. Great is the power of the bank and great is responsibility; and as it is the greatest element of strength when true to its mission, so it is the greatest element of weakness when false to its trust.

Gentlemen of the Convention, we feel honored at your presence, and our every privilege is yours. May your deliberations be as profitable as we hope they will be pleasant, and may they be as pleasant as our wish is to make them.

NEWBERN BI-CENTENNIAL.

Burlesque Midnight Parade One of the Features of Big Celebration.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., June 22.—Among the many other features of the great Bi-Centennial and State Firemen's Tournament, which will be held in this city July 25-30, there will be a burlesque midnight parade in which every fireman who attends will participate. The local fire companies will offer several cash prizes for the most grotesque costume and it is more than probable that some startling creations will be seen.

The work of building the immense grandstand, which will be located on George street, will begin next week. When completed this structure will seat 2,000 people

Arrangements are also being made to secure an airship that week, but it is hardly probable that this can be done.

Elizabethtown, N. C., June 22.—Elizabethtown will soon be connected with the outer world by railroad if nothing doesn't happen, for the V. C. & S., is headed this way at the rate of a mile a week, and is operating trains now in about 15 miles of here.

Sleepy old Elizabethtown is waking up and is getting herself in readiness for the first train.

The first load of lumber was hauled today to build the large mill plant of the Newton-McArthur Lumber Co., which will be located here.

The recent freshet which is rapidly receding did much damage to lowland corn and the small grain crops in the river bottoms.

Judge C. C. Lyon is home for a few weeks' stay, not having any more courts till the last of July. He is busy looking after his farm now, but will attend the Bar Association at Wrightsville Beach next week and will enjoy the sea breeze for several days.

A white man, "escaped convict' was killed near Tar Heel last Friday, after a run for his liberty. A mile to the river he was overtaken and was shot through the head while swimming a creek where it made into the river. He was buried along the right-of-way of the road.

ON THE AFFAIRS OF WOMAN AND THE HOUSEHOLD

ASPARAGUS is one of the most wholesome of the vegetable foods, and the best variety is the giant green asparagus.

Asparagus should be boiled gently in well salted water, standing if possible to save the heads. The shoots tied together in one bunch should be put into the pot so that the water will reach about halfway up. When they have boiled some ten or fifteen minutes they should be laid on their side so that the water covers all when cooked. Served with white sauce or with nothing but butter if the full asparagus taste is to be brought out, this makes one of the real delicacies of the table.

Connoisseurs will not eat asparagus that has been kept long after it has been picked any more than they will eat fish not strictly fresh. Kept in water it may easily decay, just as the stems of any plant. It is far more wholesome to freshen the asparagus with running water or on ice than to let it stand in water.

LOVE IN THE KITCHEN.

A man has to be made comfortable in his house if he is going to love that home and make a success of his business.

If the home is ill kept and the meals ill cooked he will soon learn to look elsewhere for his comfort.

It is all very well to rave romantically about bread and kisses, but love is not the ethereal little god he is represented to be. He wants a sound, healthy diet if you would keep him alive.

If you love a man well enough to marry him, surely you love him enough to hold his affections. Blue eyes and golden hair will not compensate him for burned chops and waxy potatoes.

The average man is home loving and domestic. He marries because he wants a home and thinks he has found the right girl. But if he comes home at night and finds dark discomfort instead of light and cheerfulness he soon begins to feel that he has made a mistake.

If you go the right way about it you can make him look upon you as the most helpful woman in the world.

Skirts So Tight Women Have to Wabble In Them

MOST interesting of all the fashions of the season are the new skirts. Fate has decreed that we shall wabble, to use a forcible if not elegant term. It is difficult to predict from present signs of skirt skimpiness where the craze will end, but so far the modish jupe measures just two yards at the bottom. And this is not all; it is so tight under the knees that it is with decided discomfort that the wearer walks in it.

The foibles of femininity are many, but this is the last straw. But the wonderful thing about fashion's vagaries is that, no matter how outre they may be, there is nearly always a certain smartness in their freakiness that makes them positively alluring. And even in our tight skirts, though we have to walk like Japanese mousmees, we manage to look graceful. Some of the models, to be sure, are impossibly ugly, and none is really becoming, because all of them cut us in two. Still, we're chic in them.

We have plaited tunics over plain skirts or plain tunics over plaited skirts, but the plaiting is so shallow that it occupies no space and lies quite flat. The general tied up appearance does not make for grace, and one has to study one's points to get good results. Many tunics are gathered into a bias fold or wide band, which falls below the knees over a plain short skirt. Sometimes the tunic affects the form of a Russian blouse and fastens down the left side, where it is trimmed with embroidery or braiding.

When we dispense with the tunic we can have recourse to the crossed bodice trimmings, which are really pretty. They are also crossed at the back from the shoulders, which gives an attractive line at the waist. And, considering the hideous appearance of some smart frocks in the back, this is a point of some importance. I was speaking to a famous couturier on this subject recently. He shrugged his shoulders and said: "What will you have? We must follow the fashion." But the sensible woman does not become the slave of la mode. She studies herself and puts some individual touches into her toilets, nolens volens.

Another incongruity of dress just now is the low cut neck. Even for a very young girl the hardness of the low cut collarless gown is often a mistake, and the new plaited frill placed flat around the throat is about as trying a style as one can wear. The safer way is to adopt a small yoke and high collar of flesh colored silk net or tulle.

There is nothing more chic, more distinguished, more becoming and, it might be added, more fashionable this season than black and white effects when handled successfully. For the average dressmaker black is black and white is white and that is all there is to it.

DAPHNE DEAN.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAPER?

ONE of the newest ideas in room decoration is the flower frieze. The walls of the room are colored or papered cream or some delicate shade, and then an applique of flowers is put up just below the cornice. This applique is made by cutting away the background from the pattern of a canvas or paper frieze, giving the design the appearance of bold openwork embroidery. A very sharp pair of scissors must be used, and it does not at all matter if the frieze be cut into short lengths so long as it is pasted up carefully on the wall so that the joins do not show.

The design should not be "conventional," but of natural looking flowers. A very pretty effect is gained by carrying this idea out all through a house, choosing a different flower for each frieze. One room might have a frieze of pansies, another bunches and trails of violets, another golden daffodils. The flower chosen for the frieze is repeated in the pattern on the hangings, the chintz on the chairs and on the toilet table.

Cream enamel or green stained wooden furniture looks charming in a flower room. Any clever woman can carry out this idea in her bedroom, and if she is able to do the actual putting up of the frieze herself here is a good paste to use: Mix a quarter of flour into a pail with cold water and then pour boiling water slowly on it stirring all the while until it thickens.

USING FELT HATS.

If you have any leftover felt hats from the winter that are not to be preserved for future use here is a way that you can turn them to account. From them you can make pot holders, iron holders, polishers for waxed floors, mats on which to stand plants and rounds to paste on legs of chairs and tables to stop scratches.

TO CLEAN PAINTINGS.

Oil paintings may be cleaned by rubbing over them a freshly cut slice of potato which has been slightly dampened. The lather should be wiped off with a soft damp sponge and then the picture should be washed with lukewarm water, dried and polished with a piece of soft silk that has been washed.

WOODEN VESSELS FOR PLANTS.

Heavy plants, such as cactus or hydrangea, should be grown in wooden vessels. The vessels are more suitable for porch ornaments, retain the moisture longer, can be painted to match porch furnishings and are not inconvenient to handle if handles are nailed on each side. Flowers grown in wooden vessels are stronger than those grown in glazed crocks or tin vessels.

CARE OF THE HAIR.

EVERY woman should have several combs, graded from coarse to very fine. These combs should be used in the order of their fineness. Some parts of the hair being more tangled than the others, the fine teeth coming in contact with them before the tangles are removed would invariably be broken. Moreover, the combing would be very unevenly done.

In order to treat the hair properly a comb about eight inches long and supplied with teeth about one-eighth of an inch part is an excellent size to begin with. After that a very slightly finer one should be used, followed with the next grade, and so on to the finest.

The best material for combs is tortoise shell. As this is expensive a good rubber comb is often used as a substitute. Celluloid combs should never be bought, for they are highly inflammable.

The rubber combs passing through the silklike hair become so charged with electricity that if the combing is done in a dark room one can see the electric sparks engendered by the friction. It is the electricity that causes the short snapping sounds that one sometimes hears when using a rubber comb.

The electricity is very beneficial. The same effort is being also obtained by the use of a tortoise shell comb. It holds good of any resinous or vitreous substance.

A very useful comb is the so called tail comb, so named because of the slightly projecting pointed end piece with which it is supplied. This serves as a curler for those who have naturally curly hair.

ONE ON THE RECTOR.

Rector—I did not see you at our social gathering last week, Lisbeth. Why was that?

Lisbeth—Well, I had a little gathering of my own last week, sir.

Rector—Dear me! Where was that?

Lisbeth—On the back of my neck, sir.

ALL READY FOR WEEK END TRIPS.

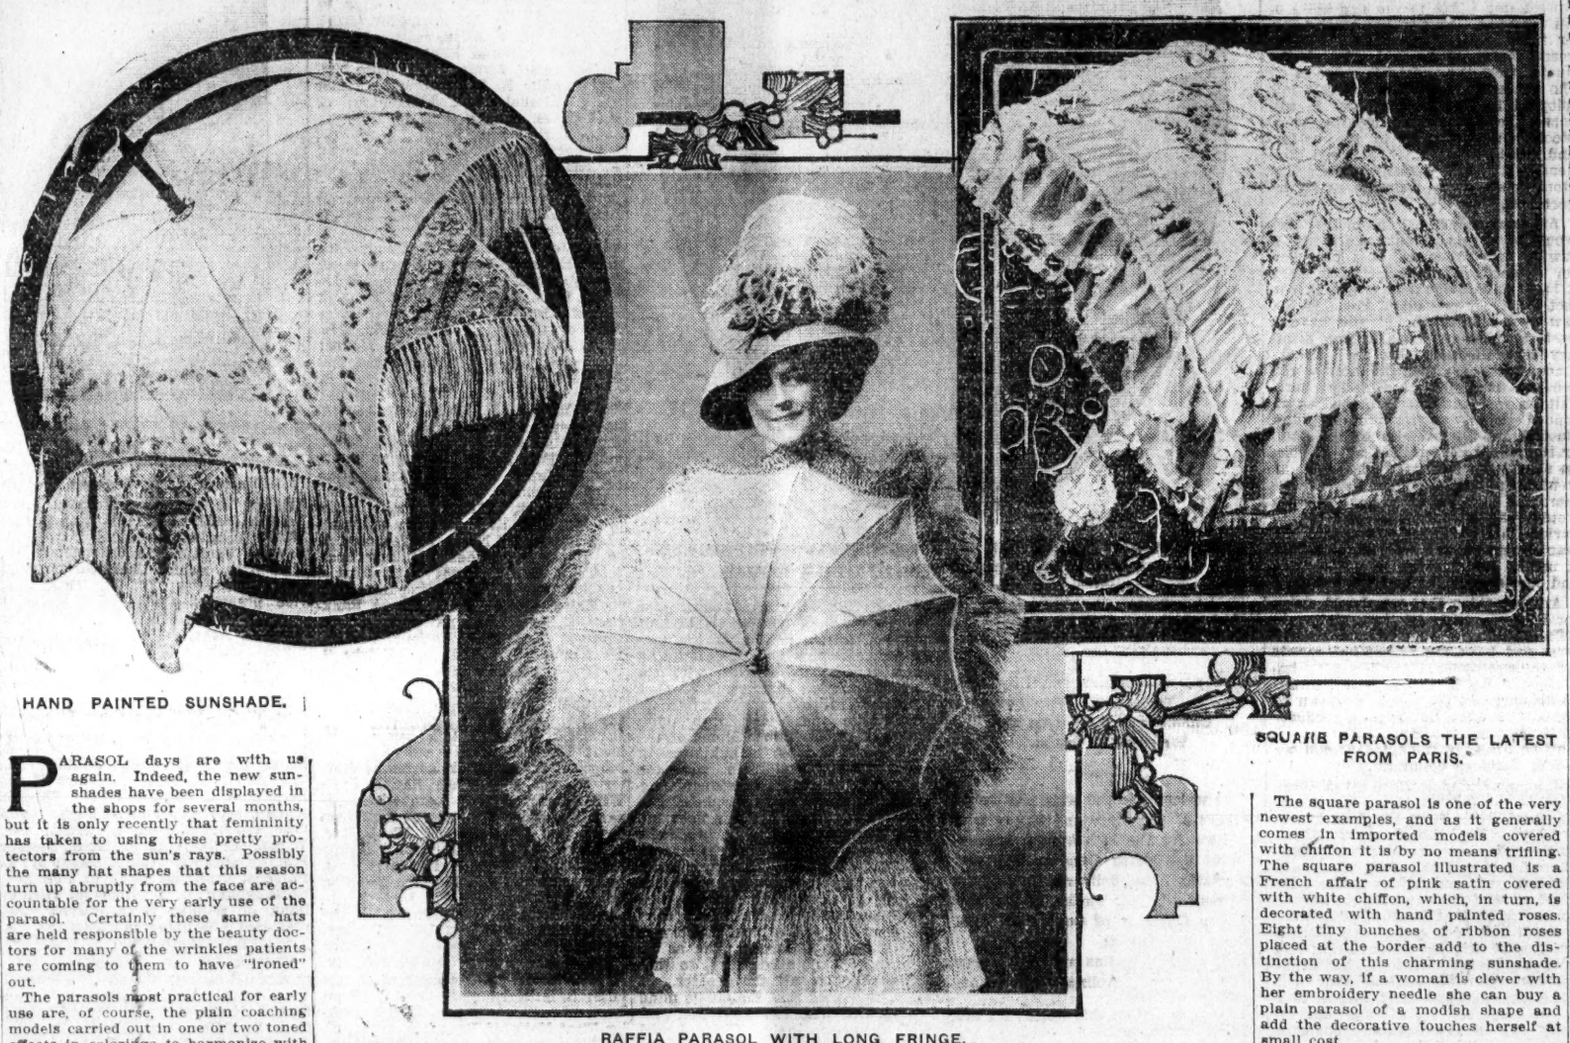
A WOMAN who works busily every day in the week and whose hours for pleasure are few and far between has been able to lengthen the small joys that now and then come to her in the following way: In a bureau drawer sacred to this purpose she keeps a pair or two of new or at least perfectly mended stockings, a few of her prettiest handkerchiefs, some neckwear and her best set of lingerie. She never uses these things except for emergencies, sudden invitations and the like. Experience has taught her what to add to this resourceful drawer, and even a simple foulard dress that she does not wear on excepted occasions, but keeps for "sudden calls," is kept there sometimes. Then if the afternoon has been productive of an invitation of which she had no thought in the morning she is able to take before dressing a fifteen minute nap, a wonderful freshening for an evening's revel.

The practice of the trained nurse, who always keeps a satchel packed in readiness for a hasty summons, she also follows to a certain extent. A new toothbrush, a packet of talcum powder unopened and therefore not likely to spill, a tube of dental paste, some new wash cloths, gloves worn but once and still quite fresh, a nightdress with ribbons run in—all these are in the suit case, and they lessen her need when an invitation comes for a week end trip.

If you wax the end of your thread or embroidery floss you can thread a much finer needle and thread it much more easily.

Parasol Days Are Here Again

SUNSHADES WERE NEVER MORE ATTRACTIVE OR HANDLES AS ARTISTIC



HAND PAINTED SUNSHADE.

RAFFIA PARASOL WITH LONG FRINGE.

SQUARE PARASOLS THE LATEST FROM PARIS.

PARASOL days are with us again. Indeed, the new sunshades have been displayed in the shops for several months, but it is only recently that femininity has taken to using these pretty protectors from the sun's rays. Possibly the many hat shapes that this season turn up abruptly from the face are accountable for the very early use of the parasol. Certainly these same hats are held responsible by the beauty doctors for many of the wrinkles patients are coming to them to have "ironed" out.

The parasols most practical for early use are, of course, the plain coaching models carried out in one or two toned effects in colorings to harmonize with the tailored suits with which they are carried. But to be smart these parasols must have something very effective by way of handle, not to say something decidedly bizarre. And the manufacturers have met the demand in a very clever fashion in the wooden handles. The flower design with natural or painted wood handle ending in a single flower exquisitely carved and colored will be liked by women to whom grotesque designs do not appeal. In the eccentric line one finds the parrot as a motif, and the chanticleer makes his appearance on handles in a great variety of designs, ranging from a cock's head to a full presentment of his highness the monarch of the barnyard. The owl is another bird which designers are fond of using on parasol handles, and on a black or white model this wise bird with his great solemn eyes is not bad when perched at the end of the handle. Dogs of fighting blood with their undershot jaws are favorite ornamentations, while occasionally a monkey winds his tail about the handle of some stunning sunshade and looks up impudently into the owner's face.

All of these handles are not for the woman with conservative tastes, but it must be admitted that many of the unusual designs are beautifully worked out by their makers. The swan, crane or stork when well carved on a handle is attractive to women whose sartorial taste does not run to extreme styles. They, too, offer peculiar advantages to the designer, because their long necks give graceful crooks and other effects. As the handles of the season are very long drawn out this is a point not to be overlooked by the trade. A number of these elongated handles are studded with small pet steel and colored beads, with here and there a large bead set in to vary the monotony of the scheme. And there are countless designs in natural wood or painted handles that are wonderfully smart.

Raffia handles are among the new offerings in the shops. They are fetching on parasols of a summery type and are made either plain or set with semiprecious cabochon stones harmonizing with the costume. Among the pictures is one of an entire parasol made of raffia in the natural coloring, decorated with long fringe of the raw raffia. It has a long handle ending in a carved head of some strange species of the feathered kingdom.

This year's parasols have a style of their own and tell the tale of their newness. The most marked difference is in the width of their panels, sixteen ribs being used instead of the regulation eight. Handles, as I have said, are very long—so long, in fact, that the arm must be bent at right angles to rest the hand on top when the owner is standing.

The square parasol is one of the very newest examples, and as it generally comes in imported models covered with chiffon it is by no means trifling. The square parasol illustrated is a French affair of pink satin covered with white chiffon, which, in turn, is decorated with hand painted roses. Eight tiny bunches of ribbon roses placed at the border add to the distinction of this charming sunshade. By the way, if a woman is clever with her embroidery needle she can buy a plain parasol of a modish shape and add the decorative touches herself at small cost.

Exorbitant sums are being paid for hand painted parasols, and many girls are reaping quite a harvest this summer by painting them for the shops and filling individual orders. Such paintings are in blurred soft tones on faintly tinted silks, and sometimes the designs are in festooned effects with little medallions showing quaint powdered and patched beauties of the old French regimes.

The daintily hand painted sunshade to be seen among the cuts is of lilac silk with a border of pink roses and violets. The alternate ribs are covered with gray and violet embroidery, and the long silk fringe is pale lilac. This is a shepherdess parasol with the crook on the ferule end and a long straight stick at the other end.

CATHERINE TALBOT.

ROOSEVELT SETS A MILLINERY FASHION

THE "jungle hat," which is the very latest thing in summer millinery, is at once an outcome and an imitation of the headgear worn by Colonel Roosevelt during his late hunting trip in the wilds of Africa. The "jungle hat" reached this country by way of London. The story is that a British designer of "creations" saw the original Roosevelt solar topee at Cairo and was struck with its possibilities from a shining point of view. The result of this encounter was the new fashion. The "jungle" is made of a coarse glossy straw and is trimmed with a broad band of black velvet ribbon finished with a flat bow. The crown is of such a size as to permit of the hat sitting snugly on the head. The brim turns down so as to afford ample shade to the face. It is as becoming as it is practical. Imagine what a joy the "jungle hat" is going to be to the girl who goes canoeing this summer!

To Protect, Rugs, Curtains, Etc., From Moths

TO prevent moths and other insects in a house closed for the summer cleanliness is necessary, as spots on fabrics and dust and dirt on wood attract household pests. If the dirt alone were not reason enough for applying soap and other cleansing agents there is the added fact that washing or airing will exterminate insects.

It is not too much to say that every inch of wood which is not in the light of day should be washed with ammonia water and soap. All bureau and dressing table drawers should be emptied, wiped carefully with wet cloths and then put into the sun for an hour or two to dry and air. Fresh papers should be put in, and every article that has been in the drawers should be shaken and aired.

The fact that garments are not of a material that moths will attack is no reason for omitting the precaution of shaking them, for there are buffalo and other insects that like cotton as well as woolen. Lavender flowers or a few drops of oil of lavender in chests of drawers act as preventives.

All heavy draperies must be sunned, as well as brushed and shaken, before being packed away. If there are woolen carpets on the floors and the rooms are to be darkened special attention must be given the floor coverings. For example, the carpets should be swept and then wiped with a heavy cloth wrung out of strong ammonia water. Then the windows must be opened to dry the carpets before camphor, tar balls or other moth preventives are scattered over the rugs, etc., and ground into the nap by walking on the balls.

Closet doors in rooms tightly closed must be opened so more air will be admitted, and the retreat is less snug for moths. Whatever articles are wrapped in newspaper should be done so that no persistent intruder can get into them around the edges, and the safest way to accomplish this is to turn under the edges of tops and sides twice before tying the bundles.

Rugs are likely to go through the warm season in good condition if laid flat on the floor, putting plenty of moth preventive over the surface as the carpets are treated.

Fillet Lace as a Trimming Base

THE heavy square mesh lace called fillet is used as a base this season upon which to embroider designs, preferably of a conventional character. Silk and crewel are used to embroider the patterns on this foundation. Various applications are embroidered upon the heavier laces, also the fillet, and then cut out in scroll-like designs and applied to the lace by an embroidery stitch. One of the latest whims of the kind is linen applique or lace, the linen being embroidered with silk floss.

Where there is a profusion of trimming on a gown it is usually of braid or applique designs of velvet or cloth. Braiding never seems to lose its hold on fashion and does not restrict, as do some gayer and more elaborate trimmings, the uses of a gown to certain special occasions.

Old fashioned shawls of the oriental patterns in the beautiful colorings of the past may be turned into usefulness if you are willing to cut them up into bias folds and outline them with narrow velvet ribbon or by cutting the border design of the shawl and appliquing it in the irregularity of the pattern directly on the material. But only the smallest amount of this trimming should be used on a gown.

There are several other pretty trimmings which may be used by the combination of braids of various widths and colors—as, for instance, in a navy blue, white and gold braid, the three being joined together by rows of catstitching, the blue forming the base line and of course being the widest, the white being half the width of the blue, and the gold half the width of the white.

Slavonic embroideries are the height of modishness on frocks. For the woman who would have her linen gown trimmed with this embroidery without incurring the usual expense of such plunging it will be good news to know that she may find charming cotton galloons, machine embroidered, in this Slavonic spirit that may be used very well. There is such a galloon about three inches wide that may be manipulated into square motifs that look wonderfully like hand embroideries. Whatever little motif of this kind that is found to work successfully on linen will be equally good on shantung.

WHEN ACCIDENTS HAPPEN.

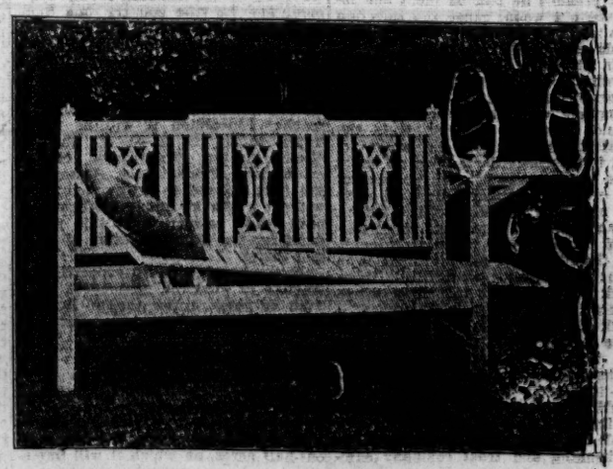
If ink stains get on your frock, remove at once with salts of lemon if the color will not run.

If milk is split over it, wash at once with soap and water.

If candle or other grease falls on it take it out with iron and blotting paper, French chalk or benzoin or gas.

If it is rain spotted, iron on the wrong side with a piece of muslin between the cloth and the iron.

A SETTEE FOR YOUR GARDEN



HOWEVER lovely the flowers, plants, trees and lawn in a garden may be, there should be provided comfortable and artistic seats, placed here and there about the grounds where one may sit and while away an idle hour. In artistic value garden furniture has made enormous strides lately, and the newest and latest design is to be seen in the illustration, consisting of a settee which can easily and quickly be converted into a lounge by simply turning up one of the supporting blocks on the rail underneath.

There are two of these rails, so that the seat can be adjusted at different angles after the fashion of a morris chair. The transformation also results in a table or ledge for books and glasses at one end.

COTTON MARKET CONDITIONS

Bullish Private Crop Advices Failed to Create Any Fresh Buying Power—Close Barely Steady. Weather Affects.

New York, June 22.—A continuation of the weather conditions recently complained of and further bullish private crop advices failed to create any fresh buying power of consequence today and the market was reactionary with the close barely steady at a net gain of 6 to 14 points.

The market opened steady at a net advance of 3 points to a decline of 3 points, the unfavorable opinion of the weather map being offset apparently by lower cables than due. There was some buying of August on the call, presumably in the way of covering by foreign shorts, but the demand from this source was not urgent and shortly after the opening prices eased off to a net loss of 5 to 6 points. The official forecasts calling for continued dry weather in the Western belt and further showers in the East, together with some very bullish private crop accounts from Texas stating that the churches were praying for rain, checked any aggressive selling, however, and later the market rallied to within a point or two of last night's finals. But there was nothing in the trading to indicate any broadening of general demand on this advance and during the early afternoon the market weakened again on reports that selling of the near months was against cotton to come here from the South and rumors that the National Ginners' Association made the mid-June condition of the crop 84.6 per cent. against 80.2 per cent. toward the end of May. After showing a net loss of about 70 to 75 points, the market rallied slightly on covering and a renewal of bull support but last prices were very near the lowest. Southern spot markets officially reported early were 1-8c higher to 1-8c lower. Private reports from the Eastern belt complain of foul fields and the inability of farmers to cultivate them owing to the continued wet weather. The New York, New Orleans and Liverpool Exchanges will all be closed Saturday and Monday, July 2 and 4.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today 1,287 bales against 2,096 last week and 10,899 last year; for the week 25,000 bales against 24,531 last week and 33,530 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 175 bales against 933 last year and at Houston 1,235 bales against 567 last year.

Spot closed dull, 10 points lower; middling uplands 15.20; middling gulf 15.45; sales 1,949 bales. Futures opened steady and closed barely steady.

A Woman's Great Idea

is how to make herself attractive. But, without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and Kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion, good health. Try them. 50c. at Robert R Bellamy's.

SOME ACTIVITY IN STOCKS

Speculative Sentiment Encouraged From Various Causes—Meat Packers Agreement and Rain in Wheat Region Reasons.

New York, June 22.—Speculative sentiment towards stocks derived encouragement from various causes today. The principal of these were the reports of rain in the Spring wheat region and the agreement of the meat packers to the increases in freight rates proposed by the railroads.

The violent drop in wheat drew out a demand for stocks from shorts who sold yesterday. Large inferences were drawn from the announcement on behalf of the Chicago meat packers of their assent to the increase in freight rates to be asked for by the railroads.

The countenance given to these inferences by the powerful banking interest which is most diligent in seeking the assent of shippers coupled with the expected arrival home of the head of the house, gave them added influence in the speculation. Intimations were circulated in the stock market that similar assents would be sought by the same financial power from the wholesale grocers, dry goods merchants and "all other classes of business."

From these propitious circumstances it was urged that no reasonable opposition was to be apprehended from the Interstate Commerce Commission to the proposed increase in freight rates and that delay even might be avoided in putting them into force. This pleasant perspective so appealed to the speculative imagination as to prompt free buying of stocks, not only of railroads but of industrial corporations, as the advance in prices became inclusive of practically the whole list.

Quite aside from the expected benefits of the rate advances, there was a detailed estimate by the Journal of Commerce of the disbursements to be made in July in dividends and interests, showing a total of $204,257,000, establishing a record in that respect. This showing had its part in dissipating the sense of oppression and poverty on the part of railroads, which has been cultivated while railroad legislation and the rate adjustments were in prospect.

The money market gave further evidence of improving condition and helped materially in cheering speculative sentiment.

Large foreign purchases were said to be included in the quick sale reported for the equipment notes of the New York Central lines. This and the sale of $10,000,000 St. Louis and San Francisco divisional bonds in France contributed to the sharp decline in foreign exchange rates. Interior bankers at the leading centers in this country are beginning to change their expressions of solicitude from the matter of present credit extension to that of danger of over-confidence in the improvement that has been effected and too rapid re-expansion of loans in consequence. Bonds were firmer. Total sales par value $1,939,000. United States 3s coupon declined 1-4 per cent. stocks today 489,000 shares.

SHARP DECLINE IN COTTON.

In Summer Months on the Market Yesterday—The Conditions.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, June 22.—Cables were indifferent this morning and while no rain of moment fell in Texas, it soon became apparent that the short interest here in the Fall months had been replaced with a long interest quite willing to realize on its purchases.

Moreover, the Liverpool demand was lacking in August, and an attempt toward noon to sell a few thousand bales of July and August by a local commission house brought a sharp decline in the Summer months which was checked only by the usual bull support.

On the other hand prices did not decline rapidly because the hot wave in Texas, while somewhat moderated, was by no means dissipated, and there was little inducement to sell short in the face of a possible hot weather scare. A crop report form the National Ginners' Association was better than expected.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 22.—Dry goods: The dry goods markets were steady and only moderately active for the day. Bleached goods are being sold in larger volume. Wash goods buyers are ordering ginghams for the coming Spring season. The underwear and hosiery trade is getting busier on Spring lines. An advance of five per cent. has been named on some specialties in silk goods for future delivery.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, June 22.—Official announcement of a break in the hot wave proved a hard blow this afternoon to speculative holders of wheat. Rain at various places in the spring wheat country where immense damage to the growing grain was feared had led to liquidation on a scale almost equaling in magnitude the buying during the previous day, but the powers to rally with vim plainly shown until a special forecast was received indicating several days of normal temperature and probability of more moistures in the states that have been suffering worst. The close was weak at a net decline of 2 5-8 to 2 3-4 to 7-8. Corn finished 1 1-8 to 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 to 1 5-8 and oats 1 to 1 1-2. LOG TRAIN WRECKED.

Seven Cars Demolished Near Newbern on Yesterday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., June 22.—While en route from this city to Oriental today Norfolk & Southern log train No. 27 jumped the track about seven miles from this city and seven of the cars were derailed and totally demolished. The train was in charge of Conductor Joe Johnson and Engineer H. M. Wiggs. At the time of the accident both of these gentlemen were in the cab and after putting on the reverse both jumped and fortunately escaped injury. One of the brakemen who was riding on the tender was caught beneath it but he too escaped without any serious injury. It was necessary for a wrecking train to be sent out from this city to clear away the debris before the regular passenger train could pass by.

THE WAKE COUNTY CAMPAIGN

Both Factions to Hold Final Rallies This Week—Fire Department Trouble—Chemists Meet. Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 22.—The "insurgent" campaign management for the approaching Democratic primaries has announced a final grand rally to be held here Thursday night to round up the work especially for Raleigh township. It is intended to have all the principal county and legislative candidates here to take part, including Dr. Sikes, candidate for the State Senate, and Chairman J. W. Bailey, of the campaign committee.

Scarcely had the intimation been made that the "insurgents" were to hold this Thursday night rally than the "regulars" were out with an announcement of a rally for Friday night, cutting one night closer to the primaries that will close this sensational contest on Saturday. Both factions are planning for demonstrations that will show the greatest possible strength. The leaders of both wings of the party express the greatest confidence. A number of the most careful and disinterested observers have changed their views as to the probable outcome of this contest several times during the progress of the contest and estimates of the situation are expressed now with the greatest caution and with a variety of "ifs and ands" as modifiers and "loop holes" to save reputations as election forecasters.

There seems to be right much of a fixed impression that the old county officers, including the sheriff, clerk of the court, register of deeds and treasurer, will be nominated as against the "insurgent" ticket. The biggest question mark seems to apply to the legislative ticket. There are those who still insist that a "dog-fall" will be the outcome through the nomination of the "regular" county ticket and the "insurgent" legislative ticket. In fact, it is said that in certain doubtful quarters, the "insurgents" are making a fight to induce voters to, in the event they will persist in supporting the old county officers, to vote the "insurgent" legislative ticket. They are claiming that in this way the enactment of a good salary bill for the county officers will be assured. They hint that there are so many ways of making a bluff at enacting such a bill where the legislators have been forced to support of the principle, as they insist that the "regular" legislators have been.

However, Senator Jones, Representative Hinsdale, and other regular candidates insist that they have every assurance of running well up with the county officers on the ticket and are confident of success. They are insisting, too, that if the people of the county want the officers on salaries they will vote to put them on salaries in absolute good faith.

Small stones concealed in the nozzles of the hose of the Raleigh Fire Department used in fighting fire so impeded the efforts of the department last evening in fighting a fire that broke out in a row of cottages on Swain street that it looked at one time like the whole block would be burned. The water scarcely rose to the height of the front porches. Finally the heaviest direct pressure, used only in fighting fire in the highest buildings, was turned on and the fire checked after three buildings had been destroyed. Mayor Wynne has offered a reward for whoever it was that put the rocks in the hose.

Following recommendations made by Commissioner H. C. Brown, by whom the freight wreck two miles east of Raleigh on the Southern, caused by a defective rail, was inspected, the Corporation Commission has ordered the Southern Railway Co., to file a report of the condition of the track between Raleigh and Goldsboro, together with a statement of the amount of work done in repairs the past year and setting out in detail the number of cross-ties placed, new rail exchanged for old and the weight of this rail. Furthermore, that the Commission make a careful inspection of the condition of the road from Raleigh to Goldsboro as early as possible with a view to ascertaining the condition of the track and, if it is not in proper condition, having the railroad company to put it in proper condition at once. The Southern is also to make report in detail on the wreck which was of freight train No. 176 in which 16 cars of a 40-car train, were smashed and 200 yards of track torn up.

The Summer meeting of the North Carolina section of the American Chemical Society was held in this city today, the officers being W. M. Allen, Raleigh, president; Daisy B. Allen, Raleigh, vice president; Burton J. Ray, Raleigh, secretary-treasurer; J. E. Mills, Chapel Hill, councilor in the American Chemical Society; Duncan MacRae, Chapel Hill, and Manlius Orr, Raleigh, reporters. Duncan MacRae made a report on "Colloidal Chemistry," State Food Chemist W. M. Allen presented a paper on "Bleaching Flour by Nitrogen Peroxide." There were a number of other papers on technical subjects of much interest and profit to the chemists of whom there were quite a number here from all parts of the State, including the principal colleges that maintain laboratories.

The convention is largely attended by a delegation of the leading merchants of the State and each incoming train adds to the long list of visitors. Right royally is Salisbury entertaining the visitors and every convenience is being placed at the disposal of the delegates. The opening session was called to order by President Broughton tonight at 8:30 in Elks' Hall. The convention was opened with prayer by Rev. Bryon Clark, D. D., of Salisbury. Mr. Norman H. Johnson, editor of the Merchants' Journal, introduced Mr. A. H. Price of the Salisbury bar, who delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the business men of Salisbury. Mr. Price delivered a warm speech of welcome in a happy vein.

SECRETARY AND TREASURER

Annual Report of Mr. W. A. Hunt, to North Carolina Bankers' Association in Session This Week at Wrightsville Beach.

To the President and Members of the North Carolina Bankers' Association:

As secretary of your Association I beg to submit the following report of the year's work, ending June 1st, 1910.

I feel safe in stating in the beginning of this report that the record of the North Carolina Bankers' Association for the past year is one which we all may justly feel proud, and is one not excelled by any other State Association.

Membership — The Association's membership continues to increase, and at the time of this report the membership enrolled is 333, showing a net increase of 50 members.

I feel sure that every member of the association will be gratified with the following statement: Number of National Banks in the State, 75; number of Trust Companies, State and Savings Banks in the State 330. Total number of banks in the State, 405; National banks members of the association, 75; Trust companies, State and savings banks members of the association, 258. Total membership 333.

Since our last convention was held in Charlotte, 52 new members have been enrolled. None of our members have gone into liquidation, two have withdrawn, and not a single member has closed its doors.

The influence and power of this association is growing greater each year, but in order that this power could be used for the betterment of banking conditions in North Carolina, every bank in the State should have a membership in this association. Those who are not numbered among the elect, cannot plead the lack of an invitation, for as soon as the bank charter is filed, they are extended an invitation asking them to join, which invitation is repeated several times during the year. The co-operation of members along this line would be of material assistance, and I want to ask every one to consider himself a permanent member of the Membership Committee.

We have in our membership banks "from Murphy to Manteo" and it is not impossible for us to be classed as Missouri and South Carolina, where every bank in the State is a member of the State association.

Office Work—It has been my purpose to keep the members informed concerning matters of importance, and to conduct every detail of the office work in a comprehensive, business-like way. Any suggestions from time to time as to how the efficiency of the secretary's office could be increased along this line would be appreciated. Please remember that we need your suggestions, and that we are always glad to hear from you.

Executive Committee—Your Executive Committee has only had one meeting during the year, which was held at Raleigh, and was well attended. At this meeting the time and place of this convention was arranged for, and that the committee selected wisely, no one will doubt, for after an absence of seven years, the convention is again held at this delightful resort, enjoying the hospitality of the Wilmington bankers and the Seashore Hotel.

Legal Department—In submitting my report I cannot overlook the Legal Department, which is so ably conducted by Hon. S. F. Mordecai, Dean of the Law School at Trinity College. His services and advice are at the members' command, and they should take advantage of it. This department has been and is now a great success.

Time Lock Contract—126 banks are availing themselves of the association arrangement for the cleaning of time-locks belonging to members. This arrangement has been in effect something like one year and is a proposition that merits the support of the members of this association.

The companies with whom the association has made this arrangement are the very best, the service is absolutely reliable and the reduction in the cost of such service is sufficient in a great many cases to pay the annual membership dues.

We shall be glad to hear from any member that does not fully understand this feature of our work.

Association Work—I want to bring to the special attention of our members one feature of our protective work that does not seem to be generally understood. I refer to Article X., of the Constitution, which reads as follows:

"It shall be the duty of each member of this association to notify the secretary of any fraud or crime practiced on any bank or banking firm, and the secretary shall immediately notify each member of this association; and when so directed by the Executive Committee, he shall offer such reward for the apprehension and conviction of the criminal as the funds then on hand shall warrant."

The secretary's office should be notified promptly of the operation of crooks of all classes and these notices should contain a personal description of the party or parties, where this can be had, and the methods of their operations, so your officers can act promptly and render such assistance as is necessary and the case warrants. I would advise the appointment of a special committee to be known as the "Protective Committee" to take charge of this part of our association work.

The matter of handling the fidelity bonds and burglary insurance business of our members is a proposition that could be made of great benefit to the banks in our association. With the proper contracts, our members could be saved money and a fund created and paid into our treasury for the protective work of the association. It is a matter that needs your careful consideration.

The important subject of bank taxation is a matter that is agitating the banks in all sections of our State, on account of the valuations being placed on the stock, and unjust taxation that is being exacted of non-resident stockholders by having their shares listed in their names for State, county and city taxation. Under the present law, capital is being withdrawn from the State that is invested in the capital stocks of our banks. Bank stock should be assessed on an equality with other classes of property, and this important subject should receive the careful attention of the Legislative Commitee, who the incoming president will, as usual, appoint, and should consist of men noted for their good judgment and conservatism. So our present law can be changed and carry out the spirit of our constitution where it says 'That all taxation shall be equal."

At the convention held last year at Charlotte, our constitution was amended so as to increase the members of the Executive Committee elected annually from seven to ten, and to elect one member from each Congressional district. This change has proven to be a success, as the members of the committee from the several districts have co-operated in every way with the officers of your association towards increasing the membership and with its best interest at heart.

The value of group, or district organization is becoming more and more aparent each year, and will soon become an indispensable feature of association work, if it is organized upon the proper basis.

I would respectfully ask the due consideration of these suggestions.

Financial—As your treasurer, I make the following report, which shows the largest income and cash balance of any report since the organization of the association:

* * * *

Your secretary is profoundly gratified for the uniform assistance rendered his office throughout the year. Many of our members have taken a personal interest in the work and have rendered this association a service.

My fellow officers and members of the various committee have co-operated in all matters looking towards the welfare of the association, and I take this opportunity of publicly thanking them. With a continuance of such harmony of purpose and effort our association is sure to retain its present high position among the influential organizations of the country.

Respectfully submitted,
W. A. HUNT,
Secretary and Treasurer.

S. S. S. A REAL TONIC & BLOOD PURIFIER

Any system that needs a tonic needs also a blood purifier, for it is the weakened and impure condition of the circulation that is responsible for the run-down state of health. We have only to recognize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving health, to realize the danger of a weakened or impure circulation. Deficient blood nutriment weakens the system, and it can not resist disease like a strong robust constitution. First the body has a worn-out feeling, the appetite is fickle, energy begins to flag, the digestion is bad, etc. If the condition is not corrected at this stage more serious results are sure to follow, and sometimes a long debilitating spell of sickness is the result. S. S. S. is Nature's tonic, made of roots, herbs and barks. It is not a nerve stimulant, but a medicine that steadily builds up every portion of the system by cleansing and enriching the blood, and in this way supplying an increased amount of nourishment and resistive powers to every portion of the body. S. S. S. quiets the overstrained nerves, improves the appetite, tones up the stomach and digestion, and thoroughly enriches and purifies the blood. S. S. S. is a real tonic because it is a real blood purifier. S. S. S. contains no harmful mineral and persons of all ages can use it with the same beneficial results. Be sure to get S. S. S. for your tonic this year do not accept anything in place of it; there is nothing else "just as good" as S. S. S. You will find it all that is claimed for it.
